FRENCH SOLDIERS READY FOR ARABS

2,500 Men, 300 Horses Prepare to Start for Casablanca; Spain Asked to Co-operate in Action.

BRITISH OFFICIAL HELD.

Consular Employe Reported to Have Been Attacked by the Tribesmen and His Servants Killed.

PARIS, Aug. 2.—France and Spain are acting in concert and with promptness to meet the situation that has arisen in Morocco. A warship of each of these powers is now in the harbor of Casablanca, and three French and one Spanish man of war are on the way to Morocco.

France has proposed to Spain the immediate landing of French and Spanish troops at Casablanca, and in anticipation of a favorable reply has prepared three transports at Toulon to convey 2,500 men and 300 horses to Morocco.

What further steps, if any, are contemplated have not been made public. Some delay and embarrassment in meeting the situation is caused by the absence of Premier Clemenceau, who is at Carlsbad taking the cure.

A dispatch received here from Algiers reports that the British consular agent and his servants were attacked by tribesmen at Alcazar and five servants killed.

Fleet to Menace Coast.

At an extraordinary meeting of the cabinet to discuss the Moroccan situation this afternoon Foreign Minister Pichon expressed himself in favor of immediate energetic action by France to secure reparation for the murders of Europeans at Casablanca and to insure the safety of the Europeans still there. M. Pichon advocated, as a first step, proposing to Spain the immediate landing of French and Spanish troops at the scene of the massacre.

At the conclusion of the cabinet meeting it was announced that France and Spain had reached an agreement to concentrate their squadrons on the coast of Morocco. Other measures, it was added, would be decided upon later.

Premier Clemenceau, who is taking the cure at Carlsbad, in an interview on the Moroccan situation says France will be guided by two main considerations in dealing with the situation arising from the Casablanca murders. First, she will, if possible, find a peaceable solution of the difficulty, and, secondly, she will only take action in agreement with the powers who took part in the Algeciras conference.

March to Fez, Cry in France.

The French newspapers, excepting the socialist journals, are unanimous in demanding that the government take decisive steps to enforce respect for France in Morocco. Some newspapers think the time is ripe to abandon M. Delcasse's policy of "pacific penetration" and march straight to Fez. La République Française says that unless the head of Maelanin Pasha, the governor of Casablanca, is obtained a genuine holy war is likely to be precipitated, and this would endanger Algeciras.

The French cruisers Conde and Du Chayla left Toulon today for Tangier. The transports Nive, Mytho, and Shamrock have been given rush orders to prepare to receive 2,500 soldiers and 300 horses. The Nive sails tomorrow.

Arabs Rule in Casablanca.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TANGIER, Aug. 3.—News that has received official confirmation comes from Casablanca today to the effect that the Moorish governor of the city has been dismissed by Arab tribesmen, who have seized the custom house and harbor works. Many Europeans have taken refuge in the consulates. The situation at Rabat also is serious. The tribesmen there are demanding that Frenchmen cease interfering in the custom house.

It is believed here that only one course is open, and that is to land French, Italian, and Spanish troops at Casablanca, punish the culprits, and restore order.

Revolt Entirely Anti-French.

The rising of last Tuesday is said to have been entirely anti-French. Nearly all the members of the French colony who did not flee from Casablanca are now aboard a British freight ship in the harbor.

The harbor works, which were under construction by a French firm of contractors, have been looted and destroyed.

The native soldiers at Casablanca sided with the Arabs and exacted heavy fees from refugees before they allowed them to leave. The panic is described as having been pitiable, the Jews abandoning their houses and rushing to the water in order to get away.

Upon the request of the governing board the Bank of Morocco, formerly the Comptoir Nationale D'Escompte, has advanced 50,000 douros (about $100,000) to War Minister Gabbas to permit him to send imperial troops to Casablanca.

The government commanders, having received no orders to suspend operations against the bandit Raisuli, who is holding Caid Sir Harry MacLean prisoner, continue to burn the villages. They have sent the heads of several insurgents into Tetuan.

Germany Does Not Oppose France.

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—The French chargé d'affaires here visited the foreign office today and informed Foreign Secretary Tschirsky of the situation at Casablanca, and the intention of the French government to send warships to Morocco.

Die Post, which often reflects the views of the government, discusses the Moroccan situation at length today, concluding its article with the statement that Germany will interpose no unnecessary hindrance to France if it is seen to be evident that comprehensive measures are required to restore order. Die Post, however, is little pleased with the turn affairs have taken, and says that if France set out in the beginning to secure control of Morocco, fate seems to be making the way easy for her by constantly bringing up new excuses for her to settle more firmly into the saddle.

Spanish Cruisers Are Dispatched.

MADRID, Aug. 2. — The government announces that in addition to the cruiser Infanta Isabel, which already has arrived at Tangier, the cruiser Don Alvaro de Bazan, now at Las Palmas, has been ordered to the Moroccan coast. Furthermore, orders have been given that the cruiser Dona Maria de Molina be held in readiness to sail at a moment's notice.

FIXES FINE TODAY ON STANDARD OIL.

Judge Landis to Impose Penalty of Not Less than $1,462,000 Nor More than $29,240,000.

WILL MARK HIGH RECORD

Corporation's Attorneys Prepared to File Appeal and Carry the Case to Highest Court.

The largest fine ever recorded in the history of criminal jurisprudence will be imposed this morning by Judge K. M. Landis on the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

This will be true whether the amount assessed is $29,240,000, the maximum penalty under the law, or $1,462,000, the minimum. The prevailing opinion, however, is that the fine will be somewhere between $20,000,000 and the maximum.

There is of course the possibility that Judge Landis will reverse his previous rulings in the case, in which event the fine might be reduced materially, but lawyers do not deem this a probability, and a large fine is looked for.

It is explained that the only adequate reason which a judge may offer for a light fine is some extenuating circumstance. None has developed in this case, and, if anything, the reverse has been shown. All this, however, is guesswork, as Judge Landis has not indicated to any one what the fine will be.

Good Basis for Large Fine.

While at first thought a fine approximating $29,000,000 might seem crushing enough to warrant the United States Supreme court in setting it aside as "cruel and unusual punishment," prohibited by the federal constitution, it is not so regarded in this instance.

Demonstration of this fact was made at the inquiry last month in which John D. Rockefeller was the central figure, and it was to prevent this showing, doubtless with a view of making use of the oversight on the appeal, that the Standard Oil attorneys refused to furnish the information voluntarily.

The suit was against the Standard Oil company of Indiana, charged with accepting rebates, aggregating $223,000, from the Alton railroad. During the trial the prosecution was not permitted to show the Standard of Indiana was a subsidiary company to the Standard of New Jersey. This, however, became an issue when Judge Landis was called on to assess the fine, and he asked the attorneys for the defense to furnish the information. They refused, and subpoenas were issued for John D. Rockefeller, president of the New Jersey company, as well as other officers in both concerns.

Will Oppose Pleas for Mercy.

Despite the fact that Mr. Rockefeller professed to know little about the great company of which he is the head, Judge Landis discovered at the inquiry that the parent company owned all save five shares of the Indiana company's capital stock. Moreover, it was shown that all the profits of the Indiana company were turned over to the New Jersey corporation. The gross receipts of the trust during 1903-'04-'05, the years when the offenses were committed, were $199,800,000. The capital stock of this great holding company was shown to be $100,000,000.

By this showing of facts the district attorney expects to be able to overthrow any plea for mercy should one be made in an upper court. These demonstrate that even the maximum fine would be only between one-third and one-fourth of the dividends paid by the holding company to its stockholders during the period involved, and less than 15 per cent of the company's gross receipts.

Crowd Expected in Court.

The fine will be imposed at 10 o'clock this morning, and while no such crowd is expected as the one which stormed the courtroom on the day that John D. Rockefeller testified, United States Marshal Hoy has assigned extra deputies to see there is no disorder.

Special provision has been made for lawyers, many of whom are expected to be present, as the case is destined to be a historical one. The exception to this will be the attorneys who represented the company at the trial. John S. Miller and A. D. Eddy are in Europe, while Moritz Rosenthal is in New York. Attorney Chauncey W. Martin, associated with Mr. Eddy, general western counsel for the Standard Oil company, will be the only one present from that side.

The government will be represented by District Attorney Edwin W. Sims, Special Assistant James H. Wilkerson, and Assistant District Attorney Harry A. Parkin.

After the fine the next step in the case will be the appeal, and notice of this must be given within ten days or the order to levy on the property of the defendant will be issued. There is no doubt that this notice will be given, but it remains a question whether the usual procedure will be followed and the case taken first to the Court of Appeals and then to the Supreme court.

Might Go Direct to Supreme Court.

The alternative is to take the appeal direct to the United States Supreme court, alleging a constitutional question, several of which were raised during the trial.

The probabilities, according to the attorneys, are that the appeal in this case will take the regular procedure. In that event the briefs and arguments of the attorneys will be submitted to the United States Court of Appeals at the January term, and if the government is sustained there the case will reach the United States Supreme court a year from this coming October.

With the end thus distantly in sight the United States marshals are figuring whether the plant at Whiting, Ind., the only tangible property of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, would yield at public auction sufficient to pay the fine. All this is of course subject to the belief that the government will be successful all along the line.

May Draw on Parent Concern.

The stock of the Standard Oil company of Indiana is $1,000,000, so that the fine, if the maximum is imposed, will be twenty-nine times the capital stock. The plant at Whiting, however, was estimated by a Standard Oil attorney to be worth $50,000,000, and should this so depreciate as to not bring sufficient to cover the fine, action could be brought to force the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the parent concern, to pay the balance.

The seven other cases against the company will be set for trial, but no understanding has been reached as to which one will be tried next.

Jail Sentence for Parent of Girl Who Died from Neglect.

BLOW TO PRAYER HEALING.

First Conviction of Kind in New York Affects Christian Science.

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Charles W. Byrne, who failed to provide medical attendance for his 6 year old daughter, with the result that she died of pneumonia, must serve the thirty days in the city prison to which he was sentenced by the court of special sessions. After deliberating for several weeks three justices of the court unanimously ruled against appeal for a new trial.

Bryne claimed that he was a Christian Scientist, although not an enrolled member of any church. His lawyer, however, asserted that Byrne was not a Christian Scientist.

Byrne's conviction and sentence to prison for this offense is the first on record in this city. Assistant District Attorney Robert J. Turnbull, who secured the conviction of Byrne, said nothing would deter the district attorney's office from fighting the case to a finish providing an appeal was taken.

Court's Opinion of Neglect.

The opinion in the case, read by Justice John B. McKean, says, in part:

"Defendant is guilty of violating section 288 of the penal code, which declares a person who willfully omits to perform the duty imposed on him by law to furnish food, clothing, shelter, and medical attendance to a minor is guilty of a misdemeanor. Defendant excuses himself upon the plea he went to faith medical doctors, believing implicitly in the mthods of Christian Science, which, in the healing of physical disorders relies solely upon the efficacy of prayer. On one occasion he called in a Christian Science healer, supposed to have greater efficacy by reason of special instruction, but during the rest of the time he similarly treated his child.

Illegal to Withhold Medical Aid.

"The sole question is whether omission to furnish medical attendance under the circumstances constitutes 'lawful excuse.' To answer that question in the affirmative by granting a motion to arrest judgment would establish a precedent that might be extremely vexatious in other directions.

"An individual of some other cult with equal plausibility and earnestness could plead disbelief in educational methods as an excuse for not sending children to school and could withhold food, clothing, or shelter, leaving each as part of his religion to be furnished through a similar agency.

"A physician must be procured for children dangerously ill, and the parent who omits this imposed duty can find no legal excuse if the disease results fatally."

TWITS BRIDE-ELECT ON AGE AT CLERK'S DESK; SPURNED.

Philadelphia Swain Makes Mistake That Has Upset Thrones—Woman Rejects Him While Getting License.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Because her fiancé twitted her about her age Miss Emma Perth of Reading broke off her engagement with Harry Bissell of the same city at the marriage license bureau in city hall this morning. Miss Perth indignantly told Bissell that he talked too much for her, and that he could go and find some other girl to marry.

All went well until Clerk Smith began to ask the customary questions. Bissell stated that he was 24 years old, while the bride to be admitted 29 summers.

"She doesn't look her age, though," said Bissell.

"You needn't apologize for me," said the prospective bride. "I am old enough to know my own mind."

"You bet you are," replied Bissell.

"I consider that an insult," said Miss Perth. "You talk too much. Now I will never marry you. No man who makes remarks about his wife's age will make a good husband. Good-by."

LINER IN MIDNIGHT CRASH; MANY LIVES IN JEOPARDY.

Kaiserin Augusta Victoria Collides with Unknown Vessel at Sea, Which Puts Passengers in a Panic.

[BY WIRELESS TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Steamship Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, via Siasconset, Mass., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The Kaiserin will arrive at Hoboken tomorrow with everybody safe, after an exciting midnight experience caused by a collision with an unknown three master four hours outside of Cherbourg.

Numerous cabin passengers, including home coming millionaires, actors, and tourists, were aroused from slumber and fled to the decks in negligee. When the schooner crashed into the liner's starboard with terrific force in the midst of a dense fog the frightened moans of women and children mingled dolefully with incessant blasts of the fog horn.

Although danger was remote, the well trained German sailors manned the lifeboats in preparation for assistance.

When Capt. Ruser, who was on the bridge, brought the Kaiserin to a standstill, it was found the schooner was wedged against the liner so heavily that twelve feet of the promenade deck and railing was smashed, a couple of portholes dismantled, and the liner's side dented and scraped.

The fog was almost blinding, but the schooner was seen to fade away under full sail minus bowsprit and jibboon. Then Capt. Ruser steered about to find the disabled stranger, but three hours search revealed no trace.

Among the passengers were Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and children, Mr. and Mrs. Claus Spreckels, Maurice Untermyer, Robert Edeson, Ethel Levy, Martin Beck, and Otto H. Kahn and family.

AMERICAN THRASHES GERMAN; INTERNATIONAL FEUD ON LINER

Alleged Boorish Conduct of One Passenger and Punishment Given by Another Creates Trouble on Oceanic.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAMBURG, Aug. 2.—An extraordinary international feud between passengers on the Hamburg American line steamer Oceania, which has just returned here after a cruise along the Scandinavian coast, culminated in the summary ejection of R. H. Hood of New York, who had thrashed a boorish German.

According to the captain a great deal of ill feeling existed between the English and American passengers on one side and the German passengers on the other. The former accused the Germans of gross bad manners, and Mr. Hood complained that Herr Pick of Munich had behaved indecently in the presence of his wife in the dining saloon. For this offense Hood gave Pick a thrashing. The irate German thereupon challenged Hood to fight a duel, either with swords or pistols. Hood declined, but offered to fight Pick with his fists at any time or place.

When the captain heard of the incident he ordered Hood to leave the ship at the next port. This the American did, taking his wife with him.

NEW LINER GAINS A DAY IN DELIVERY OF MAILS.

Fastest Cunarder, Lusitania, Will Land New York Letters in London in One Hundred and Twenty Hours.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Following the successful trial run of the Lusitania yesterday, on which it averaged 25¼ knots, officers of the Cunard Steamship company today stated:

Mails on the Lusitania, leaving New York on Saturday, should be delivered at the general postoffice in London about midnight the following Thursday, or early Friday morning. The Campania and Lusitania, now the fastest British steamships, have their mails delivered in London early Saturday morning. Thus over a day can be knocked off."

GETS DRUNK TO FIGHT DRINK

Prohibitionist Keeps Tab on Evolution of Sacrificial Jag.

FIXES GUILT OF "MALT."

Minneapolis Temperance Worker Drinks 8 Glasses to Convince Court.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Invited as a paying guest and apparently assured of immunity from arrest should the festivities become exciting, Charles H. Bates took two gallons of a particular brew of malt to a party at the residence of Dr. George D. Haggard, a prominent prohibitionist, to prove that the malt is intoxicating. If the stories told to Judge E. F. Waite today in police court are true Bates accomplished his aim.

Dr. Haggard didn't risk his reputation for temperance by drinking any of the so-called nonintoxicant himself. He superintended the process of getting it to work on Bates, however, and took notes for the enlightenment of the court.

Symptoms of a Malt Jag.

The case that suggested this drinking party was that which John Revack, who was charged with selling liquor without a license, won because the police failed to prove that the malt he sold would intoxicate a man. The report of a chemist was not deemed sufficient to prove that the malt is an intoxicant.

The trial has been reopened and Bates is chief witness for the prosecution. When the case was called today Bates told the court he had purchased two gallons of malt from Revack and with a friend went to the home of Dr. Haggard.

"There we chatted pleasantly for a time," he said, "and then I drank eight glasses of malt."

"Did the malt have any effect on you?" asked the prosecuting attorney.

"I should say it did," replied Bates. "My feet wouldn't work. My tongue got big, and I nearly lost my memory."

Knew What He Was Up Against.

He then explained that he knew the action of intoxicating liquors and had drunk it before. Therefore he knew that his symptoms were caused by intoxication.

TWENTY BATHERS RESCUED; WOMEN SEE DANGER; SWOON.

Shifting Currents at Atlantic City Make Bad Hole from Which Score Are Saved, Exhausted.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 2.—Twenty bathers, guests at hotels here, were caught in a bad hole which was formed by the shifting of the currents in the bathing grounds at the foot of Ohio avenue late today. All were rescued, it is believed.

Eleven of them were exhausted, but were revived. The twenty were brought from the water by life guards.

The peril of the group and their rescue were witnessed by a large and excited crowd on the board walk, where a number of women fainted.

SEES CAUSE OF SOCIAL UNREST

Bishop Potter Names Popular Education, Industrial Revolution, and Extravagance in Expenditures.

Chautauqua, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Bishop Henry C. Potter of the Protestant Episcopal church of New York spoke on "The Church and Social Unrest" here today. The cause for the social unrest of the country, Bishop Potter said, are popular education, the industrial revolution, and extravagance in expenditures. He declared that there can be no more righteous arraignment of the church today than upon its indifference to the physical, mental, and social needs of the working people. The church should be related by profound sympathy to social problems, said Bishop Potter.

CROPS ROLLING UP NATIONAL RICHES

Reports from Many States Give Lie to Predictions of Disaster Because of Frigid Spring.

NO DOUBT ABOUT WHEAT.

Only Anxiety Is Over Corn, and That Seems Backward, Not Deficient; South Happy Over Cotton.

Pessimists who saw distress and financial ruin for the farmers of the United States and because of their hard times a stringency for the whole population of the country, have been put to rout by reports of crop prospects received in Chicago yesterday.

The late spring, with its accompanying chilly blasts, which lingered until the beginning of summer, furnished many prophets with dark visions for the future, and the story of the complete failure of all the important crops was handed about as an established fact. Just how far these false prophets failed has only recently come to light in the cheerful reports from practically every section of the United States.

Stories of the prosperity near at hand for the American farmer—a prosperity practically sure to be reflected to all classes of citizens—came from the editors of various farm weeklies and periodicals devoted to crop conditions.

From Almost All the States.

The collection of reports was made by C. R. Erwin, president of Lord and Thomas, advertising agents. Engaged in a business to a great extent dependent upon prosperity, Mr. Erwin determined to investigate thoroughly the stories of the dismal prospects, and in a manner that would leave no opportunity for doubt. He appealed to the editors of the farmers' papers as the men closest in touch with the pulse of the farming world and with their ears trained to catch the expert opinions of the farmers. Letters were sent to editors of papers in almost all the states of the union, and replies from every one, many of them by wire, were received.

Mr. Erwin asked particularly after the wheat crop, the oats crop, and the hay crop, and not only did he learn what he wished to know regarding them, but he was told of the situation in the cotton and rice fields of the south, the tobacco fields of Kentucky, Virginia, and the Carolinas, of the corn crop in every section, and of potatoes, rye, sugar beets, fruit, live stock, barley, and flax.

Only Anxiety About Corn.

Only in the case of corn does there seem to have been any appreciable effect from the bad weather of March, April, and May. And even the corn crop is said to be merely a backward one, with a tendency to be underdeveloped, but a sanguine hope is entertained that it will come around in time to maintain its place among the other grain crops of the country. New England, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Indiana, and the southern states suffered probably the most with their corn crops, but these probably will be offset by the bumper crops expected from Nebraska, Iowa, and Illinois, three of the greatest producing states for the grain.

Practically nothing but cheering news has been heard from the all important wheat crop. Kansas will harvest 600,000,000 bushels this year, and highly satisfactory stories of the progress of the crop and its attendant prosperity promises have come from Minnesota, the Dakotas, Missouri, and the far northwestern states. Rumors of the destructive green bug have apparently died in the last few weeks, and while it is admitted that the insect did a deal of harm in Oklahoma and the Indian territory, its appearance in other important wheat growing states was short and the damage small.

So far as quantity is concerned, the south is not expecting a record breaking cotton crop. The late spring, it is said by several experts, had the effect of checking a probably dangerous increase in acreage, and consequent overproduction.

Texas alone expects a crop of 4,000,000 bales.

The weather has been of a variety calculated to give the boll weevil, the terror of the cotton fields, not even a chance for his life, and the southern farmers are correspondingly happy.

Reports from Many States.

The summary of conditions in various states and in Canada is as follows:

MINNESOTA—The farmers apparently have completely forgotten there was such a thing as a late spring and are going ahead with enthusiasm. The prospects for the wheat crop are especially promising.

NORTH AND SOUTH DAKOTA—Conditions were never surpassed, with the possible exception of the low lands. There the crops have suffered slightly on account of the unusual rains, but elsewhere there will be at least an average wheat crop, if nothing better. The yield of oats, barley, and flax will stand high in comparison with recent years, especially when the acreage is taken into consideration.

IOWA—In most sections the crops are better than they have been in years. Late rains did some damage, but not enough to affect the general outlook. Corn, the big Iowa crop, will be above the average, and one expert has boldly declared the yield within the state will be over 300,000,000 bushels. There will probably be a normal yield of oats, amounting to about 150,000,000 bushels.

KANSAS—A wheat crop approximating 600,000,000 bushels spells prosperity for this state beyond doubt. The farmers are as happy as they have been in a decade.

NEBRASKA—One of the largest corn crops Nebraska has ever known is confidently predicted. At first it seemed as if the yield would be short, but good, steady weather around the first of July did the work, and now a bumper run is in sight. With an increased acreage of wheat, there will be an average crop, and the yield of alfalfa will also be great. The ranges are reported in excellent shape.

MISSOURI—Despite the disheartening predictions for corn growers, an expert says the crop is only seven points behind last year. The oat crop is the best in years, and wheat is about the average and thoroughly satisfactory.

ILLINOIS—Something better than an average crop of wheat, a fine large crop of both timothy and clover hay, and plenty of oats and rye is the story of the farmers. The corn is keeping up well and fruit alone is in bad shape.

INDIANA—Records of last season will hardly be broken, but the crops will far exceed the early expectations. Corn and oats are a little behind the average, but the other field crops are about equal to other years. The fruit crop is below the normal.

OHIO—As a whole the crops are about the average. In some sections the prospects are away above the normal, but in others it is apparent there will be decreases in the yield, all tending to even up matters.

NEW YORK—With a bigger hay crop than it has had in years, New York is not worrying greatly over the fact that its wheat output will be hardly more than 90 per cent of the average. With the hay and pasture outlook so excellent, a correspondingly encouraging note has been sounded by the dairy interests. Potatoes will be about on the average.

PENNSYLVANIA—There will easily be an average crop of wheat, and while corn is late it is expected to finish with about the normal yield. Oats are heading well, and grass, which makes Pennsylvania the second dairying state in the country, is in excellent shape.

CONNECTICUT—With rye above the average and hay in a similar condition, although slightly late, farmers have nothing whatever to complain about.

KENTUCKY—Plenty of late vegetables is the story of the farmers. The early outlook was anything but satisfactory, but the situation has cleared to a considerable extent. The corn crop is reported in excellent shape.

VIRGINIA—The tobacco crop is late and will be off in quality and quantity. Corn is also late, but is rounding to in good fashion in the hot weather. There is a good crop of hay, and feed for stock is said to be plentiful.

TENNESSEE—All the crops are late because of the cold weather of the spring, but prospects point to a crop of nearly average yield.

MISSISSIPPI—There will be no overproduction of cotton, the staple crop of Mississippi. Good prices are in prospect.

LOUISIANA—Rice, the principal crop, is in splendid shape with all prospects pointing to a big yield.

TEXAS—With 4,000,000 bales of cotton and 155,000,000 bushels of corn in sight, the outlook is highly encouraging. Range conditions are said to be better than they have been in years, and the small crops, such as peanuts, sweet potatoes, rice, and alfalfa, are in excellent shape.

MONTANA—Hay, the great Montana crop, is better than it has been in fifteen years. This has had a tendency to boom things all around, and the word has gone forth that Montana will market its stock early and in prime condition.

COLORADO—A 25 per cent increase in the potato crop is the most interesting feature of the outlook. Sugar beets also are said to be in excellent shape, while the crop of alfalfa will be a bumper one.

FAR NORTHWESTERN STATES—The outlook for grain, hay, fruit, and potatoes is reported better than ever. The hops crop, however, will be a small one.

NEW ENGLAND—All crops were late getting into the ground, but with the possible exception of sweet corn, everything will be up to the average. There will be full crops of fruit and potatoes.

CANADA—Reports received are of a cheerful nature, with the possible exception of those from northern Manitoba.

FAST WOOING AND ROMANTIC WEDDING END IN WIFE'S SUIT.

Mrs. Ida Foster Day Crawford Files Action in Worcester, Mass., to Divorce Chicago Husband.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The filing of a divorce bill by Mrs. Ida Foster Day Crawford, a noted New England beauty, against her husband, Jay Wilson Crawford of Chicago, has caused a sensation in Boston and Worcester society circles.

Mrs. Crawford charges that her husband has been guilty of cruel and abusive treatment and neglect to support. She prays for absolute divorce and the right to resume her maiden name.

A couple of seasons ago Crawford was a shining light in Boston society, and particularly in the summer colony along the north shore. It was there Miss Day and Crawford met. With them it was a case of love at first sight. When Miss Day went with her family to York Beach, Me., Crawford followed and after a courtship that lasted about two weeks they eloped on July 24, 1905.

The young people came here to live in a fashionable apartment block. For a time everything went swimmingly. Then tradesmen whom he owed began to harass him and he finally fled as sheriffs came to arrest him because a draft which he had given in payment for an automobile on a Dayton, O., firm was returned marked "N. G."

3 KILLED AND 7 WOUNDED IN BOSTON CHINESE TONG WAR

New York Members of One Society Attack Rival Clan and Shoot to Slay.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 2.—A band of Chinamen, numbering a dozen or more, and said to be members of the notorious Hep Sing Tong, entered a narrow alley in Chinatown tonight, and, drawing revolvers, opened fire upon fifty Chinamen belonging to the On Leong Tong, killing three and injuring seven. At the first volley the Chinamen rushed for their quarters, stumbling over one another in their haste to reach shelter. The Hep Sing Tong men chased their victims into their own doorways, and shot them down as they rushed upstairs. Then, casting away their guns, the attackers ran from the Chinese quarter.

Immediately after the shooting two of the Hep Sing Tong men were captured by policemen.

About ten days ago nearly a dozen Chinamen, who were all strangers, came to Boston from New York and rented rooms near Chinatown. The police were notified of the fact by Boston Chinamen, who feared trouble. Special details of police were at once placed on duty in the Chinese quarter, and the strangers suddenly disappeared until tonight. The trouble is attributed to the affray in Philadelphia recently, for which Boston Chinamen were blamed.

BODY OF MISS MATTHEWS BURIED AT KANSAS CITY.

Small Company of Mourners Accompanies Victim of Tragedy to Her Last Resting Place.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The body of Miss Laura Matthews, who was found dead near Colorado Springs on Tuesday, was buried in Elmwood cemetery this morning. The funeral ceremonies were conducted by the Rev. Barclay Meador, assistant pastor of the First Christian church.

The body of Miss Matthews arrived here at 10 o'clock. Tillie Green, the nurse who figured sensationally in the case, accompanied it. When the train stopped in the station Charles A. Coey of Chicago and Neil Manson, brother-in-law of Miss Matthews, met the nurse.

Mr. Coey, Mr. and Mrs. Manson, Mrs. Matthews, and Mrs. J. W. Marshall, a sister, with the Rev. Mr. Meador, composed the party, which started immediately to the cemetery. When they arrived they found a crowd of inquisitive persons lined up in front of the little chapel, but the funeral director drove them away.

Mr. Coey said he would remain in Kansas City for a day or two. He said he would send a lawyer to Colorado Springs at once to investigate the conditions surrounding the death of Miss Matthews. "I still believe the girl was murdered," he said. "I'll never believe it was suicide."

Woodmen to Parade and Drill.

Today will be the occasion of a demonstration by the Modern Woodmen of America at Luna park, Halsted and Fifty-second street, under the auspices of Live Stock camp. Competitive drills will be held by the Forester teams for a $100 silver loving cup. There will be parades of uniformed Forester teams, afternoon and evening.

Phone Strike Declared Off.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 2.—The telephone operators, who have been out on strike since May 2, will return to work under the same conditions prevailing when they walked out. The strike was declared off this afternoon.

WILLIAMS CLAIMS MISSISSIPPI TOGA

Managers Give Out Statement Announcing His Election by Majority of 2,663.

VARDAMAN STILL HOPES.

Report from His Headquarters That He Has Won Contest by Narrow Margin.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 3, 2 a. m.—[Special.]—At midnight every county had reported on yesterday's election.

The total vote for senator, according to Williams' managers, was 23,145, of which Williams has 12,904 and Vardaman 10,241, leaving Williams' majority at 2,663. Gov. Vardaman's managers dispute these figures and say Vardaman is elected by a majority of 451 votes.

The senatorship is therefore still "in the air," with chances favorable to Williams, but Vardaman went to bed at 12 o'clock still hoping that he would be nominated.

Of the candidates for governor Noel, Scott, and Brewer are leading in the order named, with only a small margin separating them.

TALK OF NEW MINORITY LEADER.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Now that the signs point to the election of John Sharp Williams as senator from Mississippi democratic congressional circles are agitated over the question of his successor as leader of the minority in the house of representatives.

This position is of great political importance, especially on the eve of a presidential campaign. The man who occupies it is depended upon to create issues for his party, to convict publicly the majority of extravagance, inefficiency, or worse, to rally all his colleagues against a measure obnoxious to the principles for which his party stands, and to put the majority on record on propositions it cannot favor but which the country may want, and at the same time to avoid interruption or delay in the transaction of business which has not a political savor.

He must maintain friendly relations with the speaker so he can go to him to secure the passage of bills of personal interest to his minority colleagues.

His Work in Committee Important.

By reason of his leadership he serves as chief minority member on the important committees of rules and ways and means. As the late Speaker Reed once said, these committees are the eyes, ears, hands, and often the brains of the house. From the committee on rules are reported resolutions for taking up and voting upon measures of great political consequence. The tariff question is the important one with which the ways and means committee has to deal. It is necessary, therefore, that the leader of the minority should serve on those committees that he may be prepared to organize his hosts in opposition, and be ready to advance arguments against execution of the majority's program.

It is possible when the democratic caucus just before congress meets Mr. Williams will be named once more the democratic nominee for the speakership, which means his selection as minority leader, and the halo of his senatorship may aid in this result.

The election in Mississippi yesterday was for a successor to Senator Money, whose term of office does not expire until March 3, 1911. Williams was reëlected to the house last November, but he may be transferred to the senate naturally, if elected, by reason of the ill health of Money. The latter suffered considerably from neuralgia during the last session and there were reports that he might retire.

Democrats Divided on Williams.

If there was any chance of this democrats in the house say it would be foolish to name Mr. Williams as miniority leader. They think it would be highly inadvisable to swap leaders in the midst of a congress as important as that soon to convene. Moreover, Mr. Williams has not the entire support of democrats. An incipient revolt against him was inaugurated last winter, but it came to naught, as the result of the refusal of Representative Champ Clark of Missouri to enter the field against his Mississippi friend.

Had Williams been thrown out of the leadership unquestionably he would have lost prestige and might have been defeated for the senate. But the fight against him lost force and when congress adjourned Mr. Williams from an outside point of view seemed to be firmly seated in the minority saddle.

Nevertheless, opposition to him still prevails, and it is predicted by democrats here that it will grow steadily between now and Nov. 30, when the democratic caucus will be held.

Representative De Armond of Missouri and Representative James Hay of Virginia are the members who particularly seem to be seeking Williams' scalp. Exactly what is behind their attitude is not known, but they have made no secret of their intention to oust Mr. Williams and put in his place a man who can perform the duties of his offices more satisfactorily. It is likely they will gain considerable support from the followers of William Jennings Bryan.

Opposed to Bryan's Theories.

Williams never has made any secret of his opposition to the government ownership views of the perennial candidate for the presidency, and consequently he would not be acceptable as a minority leader to the Nebraskan. Moreover, if Bryan should be elected and democratic control of the house should be secured at the same time, the speakership naturally would go to Williams in case of his continued occupation of minority leadership. With a democratic speaker opposed to the views of a democratic president a situation most harmful to political interests of the party would be created.

Bryan unquestionably would seek to have enacted the advanced ideas he has in mind, and without stultifying himself Williams could not countenance them. Finally, Williams is not a radical free trader, but favors a material reduction of tariff schedules.

All these arguments will be advanced in the caucus when it assembles. As a minority leader, Williams certainly has not made a conspicuous success. Personally he is popular, and his popularity extends over to the republican side of the chamber.

Champ Clark Likely Candidate.

When the subsidy bill was passed by the house of representatives during the last session he failed to muster all the democratic votes and permitted the republicans to practice chicanery without making lasting capital out of it. The subsidy bill was killed by filibustering tactics of democrats in the senate under the leadership of Senator Carmack of Tennessee.

A different kind of man is Champ Clark of Missouri, who is looked upon as the democrat having the best chance of securing the minority leadership in case Williams should fail to get it. Clark has many friends, the delivery of a cannon, knows his party principles down to the ground, and can fight a losing game as cleverly as any one in congress.

Underwood of Alabama is expected to be a candidate, but his chance is slim. Other aspirants probably will appear in the field in case Williams should resign the leadership or sufficient opposition should appear to make his defeat certain.

ACCUSED CHICAGOANS FREED.

Immigration Officers Find No Cause for Exclusion of Samuel Lyons and Niece.

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Samuel Lyons of Chicago, a first cabin passenger aboard the liner Bremen, and his niece, Frieda Drock, were taken to Ellis island today on the declaration of a trained nurse that the girl was an "undesirable emigrant." The immigration officers could find nothing to prove the charge, however, and both Lyons and Miss Drock were released.

Girl's Absence Mourned by Pet Dog.

MARIE BECKER.

Miss Marie Becker is in far away Paris, in absolute ignorance of the wonderful adventures of Peaches, the canine detective who started out in search of her. The dog-detective not only failed to find his young mistress, but lost himself so effectually that, but for the assistance of the police, he might never have been recovered.

It was many days ago that the little Miss Becker, who is 13 years old, went to Europe with her mother. For many reasons Peaches, who always had accompanied his young mistress on previous visits, was left at home. He resented the slight and, in consequence, was locked up by the servants at the Becker residence, 4454 Drexel boulevard.

Last Friday, however, Peaches saw his opportunity and escaped. Of course, he could not explain his mission in departing, but everybody who knows him and his brand of intelligence declares he started out in search of his mistress. Now that he has been recovered he will be kept behind bars until her return.

HAYWOOD IS ON WAY HOME

Miner Chief Greeted at Salt Lake City by Large Crowd.

DARROW DISGUSTS LAWYERS.

Defense Attorneys Refuse to Longer Associate with Socialist.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 2.—Carrying his invalid wife in his arms, William D. Haywood, secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, stepped from an Oregon Short Line train this evening into a crowd which had gathered to meet him.

Haywood, after shaking a few of the hundreds of outstretched hands, thanked everybody and started with his family for the home of his sister, Mrs. James Killeen, with whom his mother lives.

With Haywood came John H. Murphy, attorney for the Western Federation of Miners, who is dying from tuberculosis. On his arrival here the patient was so ill that he was taken to the Holy Cross hospital, as fear is expressed that he will not live to reach Denver.

Denies Quarrel with Moyer.

"The story that I have had a quarrel with Moyer doubtless originated where other similar stories equally false have started before," said Haywood during the ride from Ogden to Salt Lake. "There is absolutely no truth in them. Mr. Moyer delayed his departure from Boise chiefly because he wanted to stay near Pettibone as long as possible.

"As to the changes that may be made in counsel at the next trial, I do not know. There will probably be a change. Some slight difficulty has arisen between Messrs. Richardson and Darrow. Both are big men, and such differences are almost sure to arise when two big men are trying the same case."

Haywood expects to be at his desk at federation headquarters in Denver on Monday.

Socialism Disgusts Lawyer.

The socialistic attitude of Clarence S. Darrow, the Chicago attorney who made the closing argument for the Haywood defense, was so distasteful to E. F. Richardson, the chief counsel in that case, that he refused to be associated with the Chicago man in the approaching Moyer and Pettibone trials.

As a result Mr. Richardson's services have been dispensed with by the federation, and Mr. Darrow has been put in full charge of the defense. Attorney Nugent, who assisted the Haywood defense, immediately resigned.

Attorney Richardson made no attempt to conceal his disgust with Darrow's conduct of the recent trial—particularly the Chicago man's closing speech.

In an interview he said:

"Preaching socialism and trying a law case are entirely different matters. If you don't believe it look at Darrow's closing speech before the jury. It was rank. It was enough to hang any man, regardless of the fact of his innocence or guilt."

Haywood's Life Nothing to Him.

"He was the same way all during the trial. Socialism, to him, meant more than the winning or losing of the case. At least, he preached and taught and talked about socialism at every chance, regardless of the point at issue.

"If Darrow wishes to try any more cases he will have to find some one else to associate with, for I cannot and will not go through another such case as the one we have just been through with an instructor in socialism as an associate."

GUN EXPLODES; THREE DEAD.

Cause of Fatal Accident on French War Vessel Not Found.

RIGID INQUIRY ORDERED.

Other Rifles on Ship Sealed to Allow an Investigation.

TOULON, France, Aug. 2.—Three men were killed and five others wounded by the explosion of a gun during target practice today on board the French training ship Couronne. Two of the wounded were officers.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery. It was believed at first that the accident was due to the breech closing mechanism not working, but a subsequent investigation failed to establish this as the cause. A question was also raised concerning the quality of the powder used in the gun, but nothing tangible was ascertained.

The commander of the Couronne has sealed all the guns on board the vessel with a view of having a board of inquiry investigate the explosion.

Admits Shells Were Faulty.

PARIS, Aug. 2.—Minister of Marine Thomson admitted today that some of the large caliber shells used during the recent naval maneuvers in the Mediterranean had exploded prematurely. He said the reason was that old black powder had been used. The present ammunition will be reloaded with melinite, which explodes only on concussion.

ATOM JARS WEIGHTY BRITONS.

English Scientists Combat Over Form of Infinite Mite and Motion of Matter.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1907: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 2.—A battle royal was waged in today's meeting of the British association at Leicester between the chemists and the electricians over the round atom, and at the close of a three hour contest Sir William Ramsay, as representative of the chemists, announced the results of his recent experiments with radium emanations. It is impossible to exaggerate the sensation made upon the meeting by Ramsay's paper or the possible effects of his experiments on the future of chemical science.

One party has come to believe that there is no such thing as matter. They claim the so-called matter is the shape assumed by electricity and an atom is not a permanent thing but a sphere enmeshing the little units of electricity now called electrons.

Lord Kelvin, who closed the debate, spoke with a wonderful fire of imagination of the infinite possibilities to which radium had opened our eyes, but declined absolutely to believe that matter is a form of motion and that the atom is merely whorls of electrons.

BAD CAR SERVICE INQUIRY GOES ON.

More Inter-Met Officials Are Quizzed on Methods by New York Authorities.

HOLD 2 FOR GIRL'S DEATH.

Woman Declines to Answer Questions; Cobbler Denies Knowledge of Murder.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, Aug. 2.

City Traffic Problem Again Being Studied.

Officials of the Interborough-Metropolitan company were quizzed again today by William M. Ivins, special counsel to the public service commission, in the hope that, by once more turning over the mass of information possessed by these witnesses, the commission might discover a solution of New York City's transportation problem.

Conditions familiar to every one who travels within the city limits were rehearsed, and at the day's end the one fact that stood out prominently was that the growth of the city's population had outstripped the traffic moving facilities.

Incidentally, points of interest were developed during the questioning of Frank Hedley, general manager of the subway division of the Interurban company, and Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interurban-Metropolitan company.

The first was the admission that the company had taken no definite action as the result of the resolution of the rapid transit commission of June, 1906, condemning the use of inflammable cars in the subway.

From Mr. Shonts it was learned that the company's motormen, on an average, are not so efficient as two years ago. Mr. Shonts admited that the inferiority of the motormen might account in some measure for the bad service.

Hold Woman and Man in Murder of Little Girl.

Coroner Harburger today examined two suspects arrested in connection with the murder of 8 year old Katie Tietschler, whose body was found Thursday morning in the cellar of a tenement at 203 First avenue. Anna Messner, a woman who was ejected from the Tietschler flat prior to the disappearance of the girl, was committed to the Tombs without bail. Gaetano Ripollone, a cobbler, whose shop is directly under the Tietschlers' apartments, was committed to the house of detention pending further investigation.

When the woman was questioned she declined to answer on advice of her counsel. The cobbler denied all knowledge of the murder. Detectives followed a clew offered by John Bauer, an uncle of the murdered girl, and arrested early this morning Mirah L. Carter, a discharged conductor of the Interborough. Bauer told the detectives that when Katie disappeared Carter had said she was somewhere in the neighborhood and that he could find her without difficulty. When the police examined him they came to the conclusion that he had aspirations to become a great detective and he was released.

Search for a man known as Jake was begun tonight. He was so well acquainted with the girl as to have her confidence. He is said to have been familiar with the tenement at 203 First avenue. He was known to the Messner woman and to the shoemaker Rippolone. He has not been seen in the neighborhood of the crime since the child was lured away. His description corresponds with that of a man who with a woman was seen coaxing the child to continue with him at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station of the subway.

Moroccan Barber Plays Dentist; Strength His Stock

Dr. Frank B. Bostwick, son-in-law of Charles W. Eoff of Plainfield, N. J., arrived there Thursday. He expected to have a good visit to this country, but he cannot tell how long it will be, for he is subject to a call whenever any member of the royal family of Morocco is troubled with toothache. Dr. Bostwick's career has been eventful since he graduated from the University of Pennsylvania several years ago. For a while he was a dentist at the court of Spain. Then he branched out and got the sultan of Morocco on his list of clients. In speaking of the sultan's kingdom Dr. Bostwick says:

"When a man is troubled with toothache there is only one thing to do, and that is to have the tooth pulled. This is done by a barber, and that tradesman has none of the painless appliances known in this country. The patient is placed on his back on the floor. The barber crouches over him, holding the man's head between his knees, and attendants hold his arms and legs. The barber gets a good grip on the painful tooth with a pair of clumsy forceps. The tooth always comes out.

"Now the sultan will not stand for this sort of thing," said Dr. Bostwick. "Neither will any of the members of the royal family, so western methods have been introduced. Fortunately, the teeth of the easterners are hard and, as a rule, perfect, so little treatment is necessary."

Another Woman Victim of Attack; Culprits Caught.

Miss Mary Horst, 29 years old, who lives in Laidlaw avenue, Jersey City, was brutally attacked tonight by two young men under the Lackawanna railroad bridge at Hoboken avenue and Monmouth street. Accompanied by a friend, Miss Katie Schwan, 39 years old, she went for a walk down Hillside, along Hoboken avenue, intending to go to Hoboken. As the women were passing under the bridge the men jumped out of the shadows and attacked Miss Horst. Miss Schwan fled to the railroad yards and found a railroad watchman, who hunted up Policeman Wolfe. Together they went back to the bridge. As Miss Horst's assailants saw them coming they started to run across the meadows. Wolfe captured them after a short chase and took them to the Second precinct station, where they were locked up.

Murphy Sues Magazine for $50,000 Damages

Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany Hall, filed suit in the Supreme court today asking for $50,000 damages from the Broadway Magazine because of an article by Ervin Wardman which appeared in the April number. James W. Osborne, who is Murphy's candidate for district attorney against Jerome, is counsel for the plaintiff. The article is an arraignment of Tammany Hall generally and Murphy particularly as its leader or "boss," as Mr. Wardman always refers to him.

Eats Onions; Lives 107 Years.

Mrs. Catherine Gilligan, at the age of 107 years and 4 months, is dead at her home in The Bronx. She had lived in New York thirty-five years, coming here from Ireland.

Mrs. Gilligan ascribed her longevity to her habit of eating onions at every meal and her refusal to worry about anything. She never tasted medicine.

Liner Goes Aground, but Is Floated Safely.

The liner, Graf Waldersee, from Hamburg, was aground for an hour on the east edge of the main ship channel tonight. While bound in, the ship touched bottom a mile north of the Southwest Spit. It was going slowly and rested easily in the mud and was floated, unassisted, apparently having sustained no damage.

Suicide Follows Home Tragedy.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 2.—Walter Scott, a rancher, living west of Jordan Valley, Ore., shot and killed himself today, following the shooting to death last night by him of his wife and Alfred Duncan, whom he found together.

WON'T TAKE BELMONT'S WORD

Hempstead, L. I., Woman Says She Wants Money in Hand.

CHARGES BREACH OF FAITH.

Tells of Alleged Failure to Aid in Endowing Bed in Hospital.

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—"I would not take the word of August Belmont for $1 until I held the money in my hands," is the ultimatum of Mrs. Robert Lount of Hempstead, L. I., co-member of St. George's Episcopal church with Mr. Belmont and a warm friend of the Rev. Jere K. Cooke and his wife, till the rector disappeared with his ward, Floretta Whaley.

Mrs. Lount made this declaration today with calmness and deliberation. She had been aroused by Mr. Belmont's reflection on the women workers of the congregation, who, he is said to have insinuated, would save much for the church if they moderate the extravagance of their trips to Long Branch. Mr. Belmont, who is senior warden, while advocating an advance in the rector's salary, was promising, as a personal donation, to pay dollar for dollar what the church raised. It was at this point that Mrs. Lount smiled scornfully.

"The pleasures of the women workers of the church," said she, "would not amount in a season to what Mr. Belmont spends on a single luncheon. I am not one of them myself, but I have the highest regard for the women who do work there and I did not like Mr. Belmont's criticism. My reasons for speaking were purely personal, and I had no thought of rushing into publicity. I had one experience with Mr. Belmont—that is all."

About the time of the Spanish American war Mrs. Lount raised a considerable sum of money by a charity cotillon and proposed to devote it to the then projected Nassau hospital. Mrs. August Belmont sent a check for $100 and in her enthusiasm Mrs. Lount proposed to Mrs. Belmont that she give further entertainments to raise a fund for a free bed in the hospital to be known as the Belmont bed. After Mrs. Belmont's death abroad Mrs. Lount continued to collect sums for this fund, but, she says, Mr. Belmont ignored a promise made by him to donate enough for the purpose to endow the bed in perpetuity.

SMALL I. C. STOCKHOLDERS SENDING IN THEIR PROXIES.

Management of Railway Receives Voting Credentials—Fish's Strength Not Yet Indicated by Returns.

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special]—The Illinois Central management, it was learned today, already has received proxies from stockholders for use at the annual meeting next October to the extent of tens of thousands of shares, although the proxy forms were not in the hands of shareholders until last Monday. It is said they are coming in even a little faster than in former years. The proxies so far received are from small stockholders, none of the large blocks having been heard from.

How much of the stock is now represented by Stuyvesant Fish, former president, could not be ascertained, but it was learned today that one of the largest blocks of stocks of the Illinois Central held outside the Union Pacific circle is a block of about 80,000 shares owned by one of the Dutch investment associations in Amsterdam. Another large block abroad is held in the name of the Rothschilds, who are understood to represent a number of their clients. Apart from these two large blocks and that held by Union Pacific interests and the Astor estate, the stock of the Illinois Central is widely scattered. Relatively little stock, it is said, is held along the line of the road itself, the majority of smaller holders being residents in this city or New England.

In former years President Fish counted largely on smaller stockholders for support and if all these should still give him their proxies he would be able to vote a considerable amount of stock. It was said today, however, the rate at which the stock has been coming into the company's offices indicated that by no means a majority of the smaller holders would throw in their lot with Mr. Fish.

OKLAHOMA MURDER MYSTERY GROWS; THIRD BODY IS FOUND.

Mother of Wilbur Gunreth, Chicagoan, Fails to Identify Victim of Fiends Who Mutilate Objects of Wrath.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The mystery surrounding the whereabouts of young Wilbur Gunreth, son of Mrs. Mose Neddeau of Seminole, I. T., and nephew of Charles Gunreth, 535 West Sixty-third street, Chicago, was intensified this afternoon when Mrs. Neddeau failed to identify the body of the young man found murdered here yesterday afternoon, as that of her son.

The situation is complicated by the fact that the name of Charles Gunreth, supposedly the uncle of Wilbur Gunreth, was stitched on the collar of the coat found on the dead man, and the description of the victim, aside from the facial features, resemble young Gunreth.

D. Thomas, a farmer living near here, was arrested on suspicion. He was the first to identify the body as young Gunreth, who, he said, had been employed on his farm.

A note found in the coat pocket of the body was apparently a letter of recommendation from Charles C. Gunreth, and gave the name of Wilbur Gunreth with the address of Mrs. Neddeau as his mother.

The authorities believe an organized band of murderers, similar to the black hand, is working in this city.

Tonight the body of an unidentified man was found near Vinton, I. T. It was mutilated, as were those of the young man found yesterday and J. F. Howard, found in a box car at Chickasha on Saturday.

JURY INDICTS THREE FORMER OFFICIALS IN FOND DU LAC.

Charges of Conspiracy to Defraud County Result of Long Investigation—Others Accused Previously.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Roy L. Morse, former district attorney and republican candidate for congress; Bernard Sheridan, former sheriff, and J. C. Harcum, former sheriff, were indicted today by the grand jury on a charge of conspiring to defraud the county. Two more indictments are said to have been brought, but they were not made public.

Morse and Sheridan were indicted jointly on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the county by presenting and certifying to bills which they knew to be illegal.

The indictment against Harcum included four counts and set forth that he collected board bills amounting to $220 for prisoners who were not in the county jail.

During the investigation, which began eighteen months ago, three other indictments were returned. They were against Louis Manderscheid, superintendent of the county asylum; Arthur Schuessler, county clerk, and F. A. Bartlett, city clerk. The latter has been tried and acquitted.

The grand jury's work also resulted in the unearthing of an item of $5,000 which had been transferred from the library fund to the private account of one of the members of the board and which has already been returned to the city, with interest.

Crew of Freight and Operators Also Responsible for Marquette Crash.

RAIL CHIEF SIGNS BONDS.

Manager of Long Island Line Must Answer for Deaths at Grade Crossing.

Northville, Mich., Aug. 2.—Following an inquiry into the causes of the wreck at Salem, Mich., which cost thirty-two lives, the coroner's jury today returned a verdict blaming the crew of the freight train which collided with the excursion train, the two operators at Plymouth who copied and delivered the order, and the Père Marquette railroad for operating under defective rules. The verdict says:

"The collision was the result of a misreading of order No. 3 on the part of Conductor Hamilton, Engineer Rogers, Head Brakeman Briggs, and Flagman Becker of train No. 71, due to the imperfect and improper manner in which it was prepared by Operator Sayre and delivered by Operator Cassidy at Plymouth station.

Operating System Is Scored.

"And, further, we find the operating system of the Père Marquette and the rules and regulations governing the same defective, in that they do not provide that all trains running under a special schedule and not on the regular time card should be obliged to stop for orders at all stations which have been indicated by orders to other trains as meeting points.

"We find further that the absence of such a rule was as equally a direct and proximate cause and fully responsible for the collision as the failure of said crew of train 71 to properly read order No. 3, or the imperfect and improper manner in which the same was prepared and delivered.

Rail Chief Held for Deaths.

New York, Aug. 2—[Special.]—James A. McCrea, general manager of the Long Island railroad and a son of James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was held in $10,000 bail by Coroner A. S. Ambler this afternoon on a warrant charging him with criminal negligence in connection with the deaths of Dr. Edward J. Gallagher and Miss Helen Madigan, who were killed by a Amagansett express on the unguarded railroad crossing at St. Albans on the night of Sunday, July 21, last, while returning from an automobile trip through Long Island.

The court was opened in McCrea's private office on the upper floor of the big railroad station in Long Island City. It had been arranged that he should be permitted to finish his duties in the morning and go to Jamaica at 2 o'clock to appear before the coroner. Meantime, however, the coroner went to Long Island City and arraigned McCrea in his office. In explaining this action Coroner Ambler said he had business in Long Island City, and it better suited his plans. Only a few minutes were required for the formality. Then everybody went back to their duties.

Calls Charges Absurd.

McCrea did not take kindly to the coroner's action, which he calls "absurd." Unless McCrea takes a successful action in having the arrest annulled the bond he gave holds him to the grand jury. When seen today District Attorney Ira G. Darrin of Queens county said he had not seen the evidence, and declined to give any opinion as to the merits of the case.

President Peters of the Long Island road will be arrested when he gets back to Long Island City on Monday.

ALABAMA KILLS ROAD'S LICENSE

State Secretary Julian Revokes Permit of Southern Railway for Violating the Law.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 2.—The license of the Southern railway to do business in the state of Alabama has been revoked by the action of Secretary of State Frank N. Julian. He caused to be entered upon the stub of such license in the records of his office the statement that for violation of senate bill No. 86, effective July 1, the Southern railway has been deprived of its right to do business in the state. The case came from the Circuit court of Talladega county in the shape of a notification from Clerk J. D. McNeel that a suit had been removed from the state court to the federal court. Secretary of State Julian looked into the law, and found that there was nothing else to do but mark the license canceled.

ERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

MAGILL CHARGES UPHELD BY COURT

Clinton Banker and Wife, Forced to Plead, Deny Murder Laid to Them.

DEMAND TRIAL AT ONCE.

State Begs Judge to Postpone Hearing of Evidence Until November; Ruling Today.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Clinton, Ill., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—"Fred H. Magill, you are charged by the people of the state of Illinois with the murder, by poison or other means, of Pet Gandy Magill, your wife. Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty, your honor."

"Faye Graham Magill, you are charged by the state with this same crime. Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty."

This climax of all the dramatic events which have transpired here since the death of Mrs. Pet Magill on the night of May 30 was reached today in the De Witt County courtroom at 4 o'clock before Judge W. G. Cochran. It followed an earnest plea for an immediate trial by R. A. Lemon, chief counsel for the Magills, a question which will be decided tomorrow.

It was the first public appearance of the Magills since they were arrested in California. They sat close together, the man chewing gum with the precision and regularity of a piston rod, gazing up at the ceiling with his dull blue eyes, and the woman quiet and alert, with thin, set lips and flashing eyes, her cheeks paling and reddening alternately.

No Fear in Prisoners' Voices.

Behind the prisoners and groups of lawyers representing the prosecution and the defense were the tense faces of Magill's old friends and acquaintances. They mostly were farmers, with here and there a business man or a listening, watching woman, but as Magill and his wife pleaded to the indictment there was nothing but assurance and defiance in their voices. No couple ever seemed to feel more sure of acquittal, but the evidence against them is said to be piling up, and the trial will be one filled with deep interest and dramatic features. Its like may never be witnessed in an Illinois court again.

The special grand jury made its report on the Magill case at 1 o'clock in the morning. The two true bills returned were identical. Each covered nine typewritten pages. The same crime was charged against both the man and the girl.

Nature of the Charges.

The first count makes the charge that Fred H. Magill and Faye Graham Magill gave Mrs. Pet Magill beer containing strychnine, from the effects of drinking which she died.

The second count charges them with inducing Mrs. "Pet" Magill to drink beer containing arsenic. The third alleges that they chloroformed her. The fourth that they smothered her with a blanket. The fifth count accuses Magill and his wife of inducing Mrs. "Pet" Magill to kill herself in accordance with the agreement that the banker would do likewise.

The sixth count is general and charges that the indicted pair murdered Mrs. "Pet" Magill by "means to this jury unknown."

Court Upholds State's Charges.

At the afternoon session Judge Cochrane ordered the prisoners to appear, but Attorney Lemon served notice of a motion to quash the indictment on technical grounds.

Special Prosecuting Attorney Lot R. Herrick came back with authorities refuting Mr. Lemon's arguments, but the judge was not satisfied. At the conclusion he said: "I will take until tomorrow to think this over. I am not satisfied with the indictments."

He was prevailed upon, however, to decide at once, and after the reading of authorities he denied the motion made by Attorney Lemon, and declared the indictments good with the exception of the last count. It was held not material by the state.

Magills Demand Quick Trial.

After this there was a motion by the defense to consolidated the two cases. This was objected to by the state and taken under advisement by the court. Mr. Lemon then made an argument for an immediate trial. Judge Cochrane appeared disposed to set the case for Nov. 9.

"This is an unusual spectacle for a defendant to plead for a trial," said Mr. Lemon. "When you called a special grand jury you denied the right of immediate hearing of the evidence. These people are innocent. We defy the state to bring proof of their charges. It is pure, simple justice that we are asking. These prisoners cannot give bail."

Judge Cochrane became rattled. "If we go to trial this term we go to trial next Monday," he said. "Is the state ready?"

"No, your honor. We want to wait until next term," said Mr. Miller.

"Let the state have until morning to bring in affidavits showing cause why the trial should be delayed," said the judge.

ALLEGED CONFIDENCE MAN CALLS HIMSELF PROMOTER.

Paul Bush, Arrested on Charge of Selling Worthless Mining Stock, Vigorously Denies the Charge.

Paul Bush, 50 years old, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of swindling Frank Sussmiehl out of $5,000 by the sale of worthless mining stocks, vigorously denied the charge made by the police that he is an old time confidence man.

"I am a promoter and not a confidence man as the police say," said Bush. "I never swindled anybody. I am promoting a large deal now for the Hodge Manufacturing company of Minneapolis, Minn., which has on the market a patent brush to sweep off the 'third rails' on elevated structures and other electric railroads. I have an office at 1718 Monadnock block."

Sussmiehl told the police that Bush gave the name of J. B. McDonald and posed as being a wealthy promoter. After his arrest Bush said he never had seen Sussmiehl before.

"Bush is an old time confidence man," said Lieut. Rohan. "He was arrested about two years ago in connection with a $3,000 swindle, but I do not remember what disposition was made of the case."

FREED BY DEAD CHILD'S PLEA.

Bridewell Rules Broken When Woman Urges Release of Husband She Had Turned Against.

Mrs. James Corcoran, who had caused her husband to be sent to the bridewell, appeared yesterday in the mayor's office to get him out. She cried as she made the request.

"I don't care for him," she said. "He could stay there, but our daughter is dead. She is the second child that has died in just a little while, and on her deathbed she made me promise that her father would be at her funeral.

"She knew where he was and why he was there, but she wanted him at her funeral, and I promised her he would be there. I must get him out tonight to keep the promise. She will be buried tomorrow."

The rules of the office had to be violated to secure the man's release, but Abraham Merinbaum, the bridewell pardon clerk, went the limit and asked Secretary Mullaney to sign the release without waiting for a police report. This came in after Corcoran had been given his liberty.

Oscar Caeser, convicted of larceny, will be set free from the bridewell in order to attend the funeral of his mother. The state board of pardons at Springfield recommended a commutation of sentence and Gov. Deneen acquiesced. Caeser was convicted for the first time recently and in view of this fact and his youth the board decided to incline to mercy.

CAR HITS AUTO; THREE DEAD.

Electric Trolley Crashes Into Jackson, Mich., Party.

WOMAN'S PLUCK SAVES LIFE.

Hurled Into Water Under Motor, She Uses Wits and Is Rescued.

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Three persons were killed and two injured, one of them perhaps fatally, tonight when a westbound car on the Detroit, Jackson and Chicago Electric railroad struck an automobile containing five Jackson residents at Sutton's Crossing, about three miles east of here.

The Dead.

OLIVER, BERNICE, 5 years old.
PALMER, MRS. LEVI, 45 years old.
PULVER MRS. EMILY, 69 years old.

The Injured.

OLIVER, R. A., internal injuries; may die.
OLIVER, MRS. R. A.; will recover.

Mrs. Pulver and Bernice Oliver were killed outright. Mrs. Palmer died on the electric car on the way to Jackson. Oliver and his wife were brought here and taken to a hospital. Little hope is entertained for Oliver's recovery.

How Crash Occurred.

Two parallel electric railroad tracks, the unused Boland line, and the Detroit, Jackson and Chicago, cross the country road at the point where the accident occurred. A house and some trees hid the approaching car. From the fact that the brakes on the touring car were not set, it is believed Mr. Oliver, who was driving, did not see the car.

Bernice Oliver was Mr. Oliver's daughter. Mrs. Pulver was Mrs. Oliver's mother and Mrs. Palmer was their guest.

Fights for Life Under Water.

Stamford, Conn., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Flying down a steep grade backward, the touring car of Thomas W. Hall, president of the American Hide and Leather company of New York, bounded over the stone wall and dashed down a forty foot embankment into a mill pond at Bedford, N. Y., early this evening.

The car turned over and landed upside down in the pond, which is from three to eight feet deep. Mrs. Hall and her 20 year old daughter Eleanor and Miss Ida Anderson were in the car with William Rickey, chauffeur.

Rickey and Miss Anderson were thrown away from the car into shallow water. They scrambed ashore and looked for the others. Mrs. Hall, who was pinned under the tonneau top, was pulled out by Rickey and Miss Anderson.

All this time Miss Hall had been under water fighting for life. Perhaps two minutes had passed, but the time, she said afterwards, seemed like an age. Her dress was caught by the body of the car and she could not free herself. She was about to give up the fight when she caught hold of the solid part of the car and pulled her head above water. Rickey and Miss Anderson caught her just in time.

Cause Fatal Accident; Flee.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Thrown from his buggy when his horse became frightened at an automobile this evening, J. C. Murray of North Manchester was left dying at the roadside near Warsaw. The autoists speeded away to escape apprehension.

ROPE IS USED IN WILMETTE TO CHECK AUTO SCORCHERS.

Seven Drivers Are Arrested and One Says He Is Nelson Morris, the Chicago Packer.

After several speeding automobilists whom they had attempted to arrest had disappeared in the distance, the Wilmette police yesterday resorted to the "roping" method of stopping the lawbreakers.

Chief of Police Sieber was in charge of the trap, which had an addition to its usual equipment. Several hundred feet beyond the policeman who gave the signal for the speeders to stop was another officer who held one end of a heavy rope the other end of which was tide to a tree on the opposite side of the road. All except scorchers were allowed to ride over the rope as it lay on the pavement, but if a chauffeur who had refused to obey the signal to stop tried to "make his getaway" the rope was raised and fastened across the road at about waist height.

Seven drivers were arrested during the afternoon. One of them, Frank Delam, was "roped." Another said he was Nelson Morris of the packing company of that name. They both paid their fines, as did five others, who gave the names of E. L. Stevens, H. L. Arras, Sam Jensen, Martin Currie, and R. L. Atkinson.

GRETCHEN ROHDE DROWNED; BODY DISCOVERED IN LAKE.

Police and Coroner Still Are Uncertain Whether Death of the Little Girl Was Accidental or Not.

Because of the grief of the bereaved mother, Coroner Hoffman yesterday continued for a week the inquest over the body of Gretchen Rohde, 6 years old, which was recovered from the lake yesterday morning at the foot of Ohio street. Several witnesses gave testimony at the hearing at Gavin's morgue tending to show that the child met her death accidentally by drowning, but the mother was too ovecome to testify and the coroner said that there was just enough of a possibility of foul play to warrant a continuance of the hearing.

Instructions were given Lieut. Ambrose of the Chicago avenue police station to detail men to find out, if possible, just what happened to the little girl at the time she disappeared last Monday afternoon. Among the matters to be investigated are the slippery incline at the lake's edge and the slimy piling at Ontario street, over which the majority of the witnesses believe the child slipped accidentally.

The coroner also wants to find a man who is said to have seen Gretchen starting towards Lincoln park about the time she was missed.

Patrick Ryan, 20 Maple street, captain and owner of the Dickie, a gasoline launch, with the assistance of two friends, rescued two boys from drowning at the foot of Ontario street in the morning.

NEW PLAYHOUSE FOR HAMMOND

Kohl & Castle to Add Theater to Their String—Combination with South Chicago Lyceum.

Plans are being considered by the Kohl & Castle interests for the erection of a vaudeville theater at Hammond, Ind., to be added to the string of playhouses controlled by the "vaudeville trust."

Definite steps will be taken today, when a representative of C. E. Kohl will go to Hammond to select a site. A proposition for a long time lease of a good piece of property was made to Mr. Kohl yesterday.

The new playhouse is to cost $50,000 and have a seating capacity of 1,200. It will be run in close connection with the Lyceum thater, now under construction in South Chicago. The plan is to exchange the attractions at the two theaters twice a week.

"Holy Jumpers" Return Girl.

Waukesha, Wis., Aug. 2.—Olga Lundell, the 17 year old Sac City (Ia.) girl, was today produced by the "Holy Jumpers" at Court Commissioner Hemlock's office and was at once placed in the custody of Under Sheriff Edward Gibson. Mrs. Lundell, the girl's mother, will continue proceedings to secure possession of her daughter.

Installed as Grand Chaplain.

William W. Wilson was installed grand chaplain of the grand lodge of Masons of Illinois last night in the presence of several hundred members of Landmark lodge No. 422, at 4229 Cottage Grove avenue. The ceremony was conducted by Le Roy Goddard, past grand master.

LABOR CRISIS NEAR AT STOCKYARDS.

Arbiters Between the Packers and Teamsters Fail to Reach Terms.

MASSMEETING WILL VOTE.

Belligerent Socialists Threaten to Carry Red Flags in Spite of Police Order.

Stockyards employers face a new industrial crisis in the breaking off yesterday of all negotiations between the teamsters' organization and packing firms. Arbitration without an umpire has failed, and it remains with the teamsters to decide whether they will carry out their threat to strike if refused increased wages and better working conditions.

For several weeks four arbitrators—two selected by the workers and two selected by the packing interests—have been endeavoring to work out some compromise. They had been unable to agree upon the fifth arbiter, and this new experiment in arbitration was tried. All arguments, however, failed to move the arbiters from either side from their original positions.

"Everything between the union and packing interests is off," said Attorney Daniel Cruice, one of the teamsters' arbiters, yesterday. "We have been unable to come to an agreement of any kind, and negotiations have been broken off. It now remains for the union to act."

A massmeeting of the teamsters probably will be held tomorrow, at which a vote will be taken as to what course shall be pursued by the officials of the union.

Believe Shea's Power Gone.

The last vestige of "Con" Shea's power in the teamsters' union probably will disappear at the convention in Boston next week. Chicago delegates who left for the convention predicted that the man who once was looked upon as czar of the international organization would quietly drop out of office without resistance. If he was a candidate for reëlection, they declared, he would be snowed under when the vote was counted.

Threaten to Carry Red Flags.

There is a possibility that the police will have some trouble handling belligerent socialists at their picnic and demonstration which is to be held at Luna park in the near future. It has not been decided whether there will be a street parade. There will be a public demonstration of some sort, however, and there has been more than one threat that red flags will be carried, regardless of any order that Chief of Police Shippy may issue.

G. F. Fraenckel, secretary of the Cook county socialist organization, issued a defi to the police head when he said that he would carry a red flag if for no other reason than that Chief Shippy ordered him not to carry such an emblem.

"The police have no right to order me not to carry such a flag, and I would disobey such an order just to show that it could not be enforced," he said. "I would carry a red flag if I was sure that I would be placed in jail."

The day following the Moyer-Haywood demonstration, when many red banners were displayed, Chief Shippy issued an order to the effect that no more red flags should be displayed in Chicago under any circumstances. He now says that his order will be enforced.

Actors' Union Pushes Campaign.

The actors' union is preparing to push its campaign for uplifting the stage and downing the trust. At a meeting of the union's officials it was announced plans were on foot to get control of at least a score of the 5 cent playhouses at once. These will be manned by members of the union. Catalogues also are being printed in which the merits of the union players are being set forth with a view to cutting out the theatrical agents.

Agree to Arbitrate Strike.

At a conference between representatives of the Building Trades association and the Parker Washington Construction company at the city hall it was agreed that the strike of building employés and tunnel men which has almost tied up work on the big intake tunnels in Thirty-seventh and Seventy-third streets should be settled by arbitration.

Martin B. Madden, president of the building trades organization, set a time limit of five days in which to agree upon the arbiters. During this time little or no work will be done on the tunnels.

LITTLE GIRLS AID ICE FUND WITH SHOW IN VACANT LOT.

Children of Two Flat Buildings Sing and Dance Around Maypole for the Benefit of "The Tribune" Charity.

Eight little girls worked two weeks getting up a volunteer entertainment for the benefit of THE TRIBUNE ice fund and gave the performance in a vacant lot at 4417 Vincennes avenue. The movement was started by Isabel Clark and Olga Polachek. The girls who worked hard to perfect themselves in their parts are Minnie Hotze, Elsie Dietel, Fannie Polachek, Dorothy Morris, Ruth Fox, Gertrude Nickel, Mabel Nicholls, and Irene Morris.

A feature of the program was a tableau entitled "The Days of the Week." Gertrude Nickel and Ruth Fox sang "When You Know You're Not Forgotten by the Girl You Can't Forget." Then came "The Doll Roses' Bath" and the "American Dance," the latter by Fannie Polachek. Irene Morris sang "Mary Ann" and Mabel Nicholls rendered a German song.

"If I Were You" was sung by Elsie Dietel. Next there was a dialogue participated in by four girls. Gertrude Nickel, Elsie Dietel, and Mabel Nicholls sang a German song and an English song.

A pretty dance around a maypole was participated in by eight girls. Robert Kram and Harry Clark acted as clowns to help out the girls. The program closed with a "school dialogue."

All the little girls who took part live in two big flat buildings on either side of the lot that was used for a stage. Eugene Carry, who lives across the street, furnished the tents for the performance. The girls charged 5, 10, and 15 cents admission. They realized about $12 for the ice fund.

LUCKY RECOVERY OF MONEY.

Insurance Agent Drops $850 in a Crowded Saloon and Finds It There an Hour Later.

To lose $850 in a crowded saloon and go back nearly an hour afterwards and find it is a piece of good luck which does not happen every day. Yet it was the experience of W. Theodore Hansen, an insurance agent at room 512 Rector building.

J. K. Sebree, proprietor of the Saratoga hotel and some other things, went with a friend into Stillson's saloon in Dearborn street yesterday and sat down on a cubbyhole bench built for two, where they talked for three-quarters of an hour, when an excited man came rushing up.

"Have you seen a pocketbook around here?" he inquired.

They had not, but in moving back the bench so he could look under his feet, Mr. Sebree felt something behind him and remarked:

"Hold on. I believe I am sitting on something."

He arose and found the pocketbook on the bench, which Mr. Hansen had occupied an hour before. Examination showed the eight $100 and one $50 bills were still there.

Plan Day's Outing in Wisconsin.

The builders and traders' exchange has chartered a special train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway for an outing to the Dells of Wisconsin at Kilburn. The members depart this morning at 10 o'clock and will leave the resort on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. On the way out two hours will be spent in sightseeing at Oconomowoc.

La Milo, the English Actress, in Costume in Which She Will Ride Through Streets of Coventry, Representing Lady Godiva

Mounted on a handsome white steed, Lady Godiva will again ride through the streets of Coventry, England, on Wednesday next. Clad in light fleshings, draped with an abundance of chiffon and a wealth of auburn hair, La Milo will enact the part of the famous lady of English legend, while her horse will be adorned with blue trappings and new harness, which are being especially made.

Flaxen was the color first suggested for the wig, but it was pointed out that the effect would resemble tow, and it was only after many documents and pictures had been examinod that the decision was ultimately arrived at. It is a magnificent affair, this wig. Willie Clarkson, the famous perruquier, has personally supervised its manufacture, and he will himself journey down to Coventry to see to the final creasing, ironing and dressing of it. Its cost is estimated at $200.

As to the chiffon drapery, there will be fully 100 yards of it altogether. It will start from the left shoulder, and several yards will be allowed to flutter in the breeze. Then it returns to the waist, and is gracefully draped around the body.

When the arrangements for the forthcoming pageant were being made there were many who wished her costume to be that of a Saxon countess, such as Lady Godiva would have worn when she afterwards received the thanks of the citizens for her brave deed. Ultimately a compromise was effected, and the costume was decided upon as described above.

"FISH TRUST" IS INDICTED.

Bills Against A. Booth & Co. and Two Railroads Are Found.

REBATES BASIS OF CHARGES.

If Convicted Each Concern May Be Fined a Maximum of $1,000,000.

Indictments charging A. Booth & Co. (the so-called fish trust), the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad (Nickel Plate), and the Lehigh Valley railroad with violating the provisions of the Elkins law prohibiting rebates will be returned by a federal grand jury this morning. An additional indictment may be returned against the individuals in these companies who are said to have consummated the deals. This was a matter left open for the consideration of the jury at its session this morning.

These indictments are the result of an investigation which has occupied the attention of government agents for several months. Each indictment will specify fifty charges, and should convictions follow and the maximum penalties be imposed each of the defendant companies will be fined $1,000,000. Should the individuals be indicted they will be subject, in case of conviction, not only to heavy fines but terms in the penitentiary as well.

Illegal Rebating Is Charged.

The charge made by government agents, which was substantiated to the satisfaction of the grand jurors, is that by means of a private car line company, known as the Traders' Dispatch, A. Booth & Co. secured rebates of approximately 12 per cent on all its own shipments from the Atlantic seaboard as well as those of competing fish concerns.

The Traders' Dispatch was said to have been organized by Henry Brigham, traffic manager for A. Booth & Co., and it was to him that the commissions were paid. The cars used were the property of the fish company, and the railroad companies are said to have made a direct payment for their use.

The freight route used by the Traders' Dispatch was over the Lehigh Valley from New York to Buffalo and from Buffalo to Chicago over the Nickel Plate. The arrangement is said to have been in active operation during the spring and summer of 1906 and was not stopped until the government authorities began their investigation.

Jurors Reluctant to Act.

It was to hear testimony in this case that the grand jury was summoned and no difficulty was experienced during the presentation of evidence dealing with the companies alone. When efforts were made to show who was responsible for the illegal arrangement, however, the government attorneys are said to have unearthed antipathy on the part of certain jurors to that section of the law making individuals responsible for acts committed by corporations.

When additional testimony was desired an adjournment was taken for three weeks in order that the government agents might, if possible secure it. The only witness who appeared before the grand jury yesterday was Edwin Kluver, confidential clerk in the office of B. E. Morgan, commercial agent for the Nickel Plate in Chicago. Kluver, with Brigham, was summoned before a former federal grand jury, which met last February, but had not been summoned to testify before this one until a few days ago. By testifying Kluver secured immunity for himself at least. Brigham was not examined by the present grand jury, nor was W. Vernon Booth, president of the fish company.

TRICK FOOLS A POLICEMAN.

Evanston Shopkeeper Devises Novel Scheme to Attract Attention and Brings Bluecoat to Chagrin.

In the window of one of the stores in Evanston during the week there has been a pile of money as an advertisement. To the person most nearly calculating the sum a reward was given each day.

A new method of attracting attention was devised yesterday. Upon the window were pasted splinters of glass diverging from a common center, giving the resemblance of a bad break. Inside was placed a large stone. To the casual pedestrian it appeared that the stone had been hurled through the window in an attempt to steal the money.

To add the finishing touch a "glass crash" box was arranged, and occasionally one of the employés would upset it and then run to the window in simulation of great surprise. It so happened that at one of these moments an anxious commuter was running for his train and Patrolman Patrick Healy gave chase. He captured his quarry, but learned his error, much to his chagrin.

FORTY YEARS FIGHTING FIRE.

Battalion Chief John Fitzgerald Ends Long Service.

JAMES WARD IS SUCCESSOR.

Retirement of Veteran Causes Several Changes in Department.

With forty years' service to his credit, Battalion Chief John Fitzgerald retired from the fire department yesterday, his successor being James Ward, captain of hook and ladder company No. 12.

Fitzgerald entered the service in 1867 and was made a captain in 1875 and a battalion chief in 1891. He was retired March 31, 1902, but was restored Oct. 4 of the same year.

His retirement brought a shifting of other men in the department, as follows:

Capt. James Ward—Promoted to be chief of the Seventeenth battalion.

Lieut. John P. Stahl—To be captain of company No. 14.

Truckman Anton Kercher of company No. 1—To be lieutenant of hook and ladder company No. 13.

Capt. Edward Lauby—Transferred from company No. 14 to company No. 12.

New Plan for Assessments.

Controller Wilson issued an order during the day with a view to putting special assessment certificates on a sounder footing. The certificates have been selling below par because there have been many delays in redeeming them. Slow collections and assessments on which no recovery could be had have caused the delay. Mr. Wilson has ordered that 10 per cent be added to the assessment above the contract price of the improvement in the hope that in this way funds can be secured with which to meet the certificates readily.

The advantage to the property owner comes with the fact that contractors, knowing they will have to sell the certificates at a discount, have offset this by increasing their bids. They have anticipated the loss and the property owner has paid it.

"The new plan should prevent defaults," said Mr. Wilson, "and make the securities a desirable investment."

Tries to Impeach Wulff.

Superintendent Nourse in his trial before the civil service commission in the afternoon produced witnesses to impeach the testimony of Henry Wulff, who has testified that Nourse had planned to break up a republican meeting at the Auditorium. Mrs. Caroline Gibbons of Maywood testified that Wulff had owed her $200 for five years and that she would not believe him under any condition. Attorney J. O. Irose testified that he had made several attempts to collect the money and considered Wulff unreliable. The continuance of the hearing was postponed indefinitely.

ROBBED MAN FOUND SENSELESS

Tied and Thrown Into Milk Wagon by Thief, Who Took His Money and Watch.

Edward McKinney, 17 years old, who arrived in Chicago late Thursday night from St. Louis, Mo., was found unconscious early yesterday morning in a milk wagon at the rear of 377 La Salle street. His hands were tied behind his back with a handkerchief, his pockets turned inside out, and there was a large bruise on his forehead.

He was taken to Emergency hospital and after he had regained consciousness he said he had been beaten and robbed of $12 and a gold watch by a man whom he met at the Union depot and who promised to guide him to a hotel.

H. W. Meyer, 195 Twenty-eighth place, was held up by three men last night in Wentworth avenue, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets and robbed of a gold watch and $22.

Louis Karovasos, 55 years old, proprietor of a fruit store at Twelfth street and Wabash avenue, is under arrest, charged with being implicated in the robbery of William Dirigo, 14 years old, who had gone to the store to collect $6 from Karovasos due him as wages.

The police have been asked to search for Joseph Brown, 21 years old, formerly night clerk and cashier of a railway boarding house at One Hundred and Forty-seventh street and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway tracks, who is charged with stealing $300 belonging to A. A. Farbridge, proprietor of the boarding house.

Store Employes to Hold Picnic.

The employés of the wholesale department of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. will hold a picnic this afternoon at Ravinia park. They will go by special train from the Chicago and Northwestern station at 1:30 p. m.

COOLLY SLAIN FOR REVENGE.

Frank Kowalski Shot Dead in Street by Rival in Love.

MOB CHASES THE MURDERER.

Crime Committed by Albert Skwertz in Presence of Hundreds.

Revenge was the motive which inspired the shooting of Frank Kowalski, alias Russell, in front of the saloon of August Marx, 64 West Lake street. He was shot dead by Albert Skwertz, 30 years old, 26 Dean street, a machinist, who, after the deed, was pursued by a mob of several hundred persons who chased the fugitive with loud cries of "Lynch him!"

Skwertz is said to have been stabbed by Kowalski on last Saturday in a quarrel over a woman, after which he was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital, where he has been confined until yesterday, when he was discharged cured. Immediately he procured a revolver and started in pursuit of his assailant, whom he found reading a paper in front of Marx's saloon.

Shoots Victim in the Back.

Walking coolly up to him Skwertz pressed the revolver to his back and fired. The first shot took effect in his victim's heart, but to make assurance doubly sure, Skwertz fired again as Kowalski fell, the second bullet penetrating the latter's head.

The street was thronged at the time with people on their way to their midday meal, and after the first consternation had passed several men started in pursuit of Skwertz, who had thrown away his revolver and was running down the street. The crowd of pursuers was quickly augmented until several hundred persons had joined the chase, shouting threats of vengeance on the murderer.

Rescued from Mob by Police.

Skwertz fled into the house of fire truck No. 17 and besought the firemen to protect him. A hurried call was at once sent in to the Desplaines street police station, but it was with difficulty that the man was protected from the anger of the mob. He was taken to the station and questioned, but he preserved a sullen silence to all questions.

Kowalski was hurried to the office of H. A. Goodwin, a short distance away, but he was past medical aid. The body was taken to Sheldon's undertaking rooms, 239 West Madison street. Kowalski was 25 years old and was employed as a teamster by Martin Kasse, teaming contractor, 103 Rees street, who has stables near the scene of the shooting.

MEN ARRESTED AS KIDNAPERS RESEMBLE WALSH MURDERERS

Police Think They May Have Chanced on Solution of Puzzling Case—Attempted Abduction Foiled by Mother.

By the arrest of two men for attempted kidnaping of a child the police think they may have stumbled on the robbers whose raid Wednesday morning culminated in the murder of Albert E. Walsh. The men are said by the police of the Fiftieth street station to answer to the descriptiton of a pair seen in the neighborhood of the flat where the murder was committed.

The prisoners are Thomas O'Mulhern, 23 years old, and William W. Rice, 22 years old. They are charged by Mrs. M. E. Wallace, 338 Sixty-third street, with an attempt to kidnap her 6 year old daughter. She said that Thursday evening the men rented a room at her flat. She overheard them planning the kidnaping. Mrs. Wallace attributes the attempt to her divorced husband.

Esther Brown, 9 years old, 1015 Morgan avenue, Morgan Park, was taken from a man while boarding a street car at Sixty-third street and South Park avenue by a policeman at 2 o'clock in the morning. The man escaped. The child said she had run away because her mother whipped her, and the man had offered to take her to his home.

Two men who were arrested by the Hyde Park police for insulting little girls in Washington and Jackson parks were fined by Municipal Judge Lantry. George C. Woods, 34 years old, a painter and decorator and a married man, was fined $100 and costs. A. E. Fletchen, 30 years old, a salesman, was fined $10.

Accused of insulting two girls in front of the Grand opera house, Peter Miller, 28 years old, a drug clerk at 73 Clark street, was arrested. Miss Jessie Noxon, 2291 North Forty-third avenue, and Miss Effie Tyson, 2296 Irving avenue, made the complaint.

CHICAGO FINALLY JILTS CLEVELAND.

Relations Established by Dunne and Johnson Are Broken by Mayor Busse.

CONFINES DUTIES HERE.

Declines Invitation to Assist at Coming Election in the Ohio City.

The Chicago-Cleveland political sisterhood has been "busted" beyond repair. Mayor Busse's polite refusal to crusade in Cleveland affairs has been given to the republicans of the Ohio city for the second or third time, and is accepted as final.

Cleveland republicans, who are girding themselves up for an effort to put Tom Johnson off watch, have wanted Mayor Busse's help. They have called to mind the fact that Mr. Johnson at one time was a sort of deputy mayor in Chicago, and have argued that it would be only reciprocity for Mayor Busse to pay Mr. Johnson a return visit and play politics in Cleveland.

Henry N. Staat, a member of the Cleveland republican city committee, endeavored yesterday to secure the mayor's consent to help the committee in its approaching fight with Johnson in the city elections.

B. J. Mullaney, the mayor's secretary, informed him that Mr. Busse had made up his mind that he had all any man could manage in Chicago, that he had no desire to increase the scope of his operations or to try for any part of the rôle of a "national character."

Methods of Dunne Abandoned.

The Cleveland-Chicago political sisterhood was in fine working order when Mr. Johnson and former Mayor Dunne were political chums, doing things one week in Cleveland and the next in Chicago. When Mr. Busse defeated the Chicago end of the combination the Cleveland republicans, who have been fighting the Cleveland end of it, decided it not only would be a fine thing politically but a bit of justice poetically if Mr. Busse would reverse the Chicago-Cleveland sisterhood on Mr. Johnson.

Mr. Staat said Johnson had not declared himself a candidate for reëlection yet, but it is generally believed he will be in the race, and it is known that the fight will have to be made against his ideas whether he is the candidate or not.

Mr. Busse was asked to go to Cleveland and mingle with the republican political managers, to give them his ideas on the "common sense" way of running street cars. The Tippecanoe club of the city had wanted him for a speech, which he refused to make, but Mr. Staat's request was for political help.

Downstate Delay Aids Deneen.

Mayor Busse was at Fox Lake during the day with Frank L. Smith of Dwight. Mr. Smith is a candidate for governor, but has not reached the point where he is willing to commit himself, and does not want to do so without an understanding as to the Chicago situation. Mr. Smith has said it would be foolish for a downstate candidate to declare himself until he knows what to expect in Chicago.

At the same time it is realized that the delay is helping no one but Gov. Deneen, who is in a position to make hay in fields where the others can't see anything but unripe grass.

W. Scott Cowan, chief grain inspector and candidate for secretary of state, held a political party in his rooms at the Great Northern hotel, receiving political persons from various parts of the state. He explained that he was not so much interested in his own candidacy as he was in Deneen's, and that the party was given in honor of governorship politics. Ex-Gov. Richard Yates called in the evening. Among those who called in the afternoon were State Senator Potter of Marion, Hanby Jones of Robinson, Guy Bush, and Charles Backus.

Mr. Bush and Mr. Backus are interested in Speaker Shurtleff's candidacy and have been doing some work for him in the western part of the state, where Mr. Cowen's political strength is supposed to be greatest.

Replies to United Societies.

Ald. Milton J. Foreman, chairman of the charter convention, gave out a reply to the objections raised against the charter act by the United Societies.

"The critics either have not read the proposed charter," he said, "or they do not understand it, or they are attempting to defeat the charter to serve some disguised purpose, either political or personal.

"They ask the rejection of this charter because as stated on the first page of the 'Reasons' the general assembly saw fit in its wisdom not to submit their two propositions to a vote of the people of Chicago. Therefore they insist as a rebuke to the general assembly that the entire charter must be beaten and Chicago must pay for their fancied grievance.

"Their 'Reason No. 2' is headed 'Higher Taxes and Bonded Indebtedness.' Do they know that the maximum rate possible under the present laws with the Juul law in operation is much higher than is possible under the new charter? If not, they should inform themselves on the tax question. Do they know that the increases for which the new charter will be responsible will be less than 1 per cent?

"Let me ask these gentlemen whether they would have opposed the charter in its present form if the general assembly had submitted their two bills?"

NOTE FROM MISSING HUSBAND NOT CREDITED BY HIS WIFE.

Mrs. Victor C. King Doubts Authenticity of Missive—Asks Police to Look for Man Who Disappeared July 25.

Mrs. Mary King, 4503 Prairie avenue, has asked the police to look for her husband, Victor C. King, who left home Thursday morning, July 25. He said he would be back early in the evening, but she has not seen him since. He was employed by a detective agency.

Paul E. King, brother of the missing man, received a letter from him with instructions to give it to his wife. It was dated Sunday and read:

> I have arrived in Milwaukee and will leave for Minneapolis or Detroit soon. I long for Chicago and you. I am sorry I left home. VICTOR.

Mrs. King doubted the authenticity of the letter and feared her husband was suffering from mental aberration and had wandered from home. She appealed to Chief Shippy, who ordered the police at all stations to look for him.

Mrs. Charles O. Townly of St. Louis yesterday caused the arrest of her husband, Charles O. Townly, a shoe salesman for Siegel, Cooper & Co. The police also, on information said to have been furnished by the wife, arrested Nellie Major at 3105 Groveland avenue, where it is charged she and Townly had been living together.

Before she was deserted, Mrs. Townly says, she discovered her husband's fondness for Miss Major. Finding two theater tickets in his pockets, she went to the theater for which they had been purchased and found Townly and the girl together.

Three months ago, Mrs. Townly says, her husband kidnaped their 3 year old son.

REALTY DEALER IS ARRESTED.

Samuel B. Shearer, 1034 Jackson Boulevard, Accused of Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses.

Samuel B. Shearer, a real estate dealer, 1034 Jackson boulevard, was arrested on a warrant charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses last evening. The warrant was taken out several days ago by Townsend Smith, a real estate dealer, 100 Washington street. Shearer was released on bonds of $500 signed by Adelaide D. Curran. He will be arraigned in Municipal Judge Crowe's court at the Harrison street station this morning.

BY CHARLES DRYDEN.

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—This unholy day will go squirting down the corridors of time as Black Friday in the career of Fielder Jones & Co.. The Yankees beat us 7 to 5, while Detroit wrenched two games away from the moth eaten tail enders at Washington, D. C., which is our nation's capital. According to vital statistics compiled at this end of the circuit, the Sox are in second place by a couple of points for the first time in the matter of four months. But do not worry. Jones & Co. will rise again.

One cause of the defeat today is due to the melancholy fact that the Yankees pounded Nick Altrock plenty before the Sox got started. Our athlete with the fatal gift of beauty was stung nine times for seven runs in four rounds. When Nick had gone the way of all flesh, Roy Patterson, who never did have much luck with the Yankees, emerged from the dim obscurity of the coop and checked them with one hit in four rounds.

Just a Gentle Panning.

The best we can say of Joe Doyle is, he is slower than a canal boat in winter quarters. We do not care to roast him. If an athlete wants to develop the sporting blood of a turtle that is his business. Joe and Altrock fussed with each other an hour and twenty minutes and emitted four rounds of the national pastime. That was the leading feature of the game—the length of time the ossified athletes required to do nothing worth speaking of. No one got hurt and nobody was put out of the game. All they did was swat the ball and run bases.

The Sox left off a dying kick in the ninth and scored three runs when it was too late to think of saving mother's picture from the sale. Doyle's slow and methodical style of pitching was baffling. The Sox made as many hits as the foe, but they were strung out too much. Pinchhitter Hickman introduced his specialty in the ninth round. He wore Dr. White's blue suit and a pair of white stockings, in which his legs looked like a couple of water pitchers on third.

Wonderful Play by Chase.

The opening gun was Moriarity's double in the first round. Laporte was taken care of by Davis, and while Chase was striking out Moriarity scored on a wild pitch. Williams singled, and was caught napping off first base. Altrock cheered his pals in the third by knocking a double after one was out. Chase made a wonderful play, but fell down when Jones sent him a grounder. Hal chucked a ball wide after Jones had beaten it, and Altrock connected a handsome tally. Donohue sent Jones in with a single to center, Jiggs going to second on Hoffman's throw to the plate. Jiggs stole third as Davis walked, and George was nipped stealing second.

The Yankees tapped Nick for his life blood in the fourth. Hoffman singled and stole. Doyle's single sent him in. Donohue fumbled Moriarity's bunt, and Laporte beat one to Rohe. The out of Chase to right scored Doyle. Williams' safe wallop sent in Moriarity. Conroy forced Williams, and Conroy lost his life in a double steal, but not until Laporte had crossed the plate. Rickey scratched a hit in the fourth. Thomas soaked a solid one, and Hoffman sacrificed. Doyle's out to center tallied Rickey. A swat by Moriarity scored Thomas, and Laporte struck out.

Blanked from Third to Ninth.

Patterson went to work in the fifth with a spit ball, and the Yankees quit. The Sox were blanked from the third to the ninth. McFarland dumped a ball in front of the pan, and Thomas banged him on the spine with a throw. Hickman singled, and Hahn skied. Jones drew a pass. Donohue's rap took a high bound over Williams, scoring two runs. Davis flied to right, and Jones counted an out. Rohe forced Donohue. Score:

NOTES OF THE WHITE SOX GAME.

The main reason Isbell became a magnate is so he can write out all the passes he wants to without being called down. He is bound to be popular at Wichita, Kas., next season.

Rickey made a two base muff on Donohue after two were out in the first round, but nothing came of it. The young fielder did not even swear. He is a member of the Y. M. C. A.

A double header tomorrow means about six hours among the dead ones on the hilltop of Harlem. Griffith's outfit holds the world's record for slowness, even when Doyle is not on the slab.

Hickman's sudden rise from the cellar champion to the top of the ladder fills him with pride. He also filled White's uniform today, while the doctor watched the game. These two are partners in everything.

The Sox are showing signs of wear and tear. Fielder Jones' left knee protrudes from his bloomers, and today George Davis tore a large gash in the right hind leg. It has been a strenuous campaign.

Arlie Latham Wants Job.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The once famous Arlie Latham has applied to the Central league as umpire. He has been promised a position. Dan Daub, another ex-National leaguer, has been signed for the staff. Dayton has released Gene Curtis, outfielder.

Schulte's Three Bagger Responsible for Four of the Runs.

ACCIDENTS MARK THE GAME.

Most Serious in Chapter of Mishaps Is Injury to Seymour.

BY SY.

If Frank Schulte had not broken up the opening game of the New York series yesterday with a three base swat in the sixth inning, putting Lestershire, N. Y., on the baseball map in large type, there would have been more casualties than runs in the scrap. Schulte's rap was chiefly responsible for making the score 5 to 0 instead of 1 to 0 in the Cubs' favor.

The casualties included a nasty shaking up for "Si" Seymour in a collision with Dahlen, which necessitated taking the injured athlete to the players' hotel in a cab; a wrenched ankle for Artie Hofman, which still further crippled the badly twisted Cubs, and a blow in the face from a foul tip which nearly cracked the skull of a spectator on the overflow seats behind the plate. There was a narrow escape from another collision between Hofman and Moran which might have increased the casualties.

Until Schulte put the Giants completely on the blink the game was a glorious argument between Mordecai Brown and Christy Mathewson, chief disputants, with the points all in favor of the ex-miner. These two world famous exponents of the art of deception went along almost neck and neck for five innings, the Cubs having a slender lead of one run, which was something of a casualty itself. It was due to a fumble by the costly Mr. Doyle, for whom New York is said to have coughed $4,500 in certified checks.

Glad Hand for Doyle.

This costly bobble by the costly youngster came off in the opening inning. That and the reputation for expensiveness, which had preceded him here, made Mr. Doyle the cynosure of all eyes, whatever that means, and won him a round of glad hands every time he came to bat. Mr. Doyle was the only enemy so honored, not having been a Giant long enough to earn the enmity and displeasure of the local fans as heartily as have the rest of McGraw's band.

But the aforesaid Schulte saved the young man from Springfield the burden of being responsible for Chicago's victory, and fully demonstrated the marked superiority of Brown over Mathewson. Mordecai let the Giants out with four hits, one of which was allowed Doyle on his first time at bat by the big hearted Mordecai. Another went to salve the bruised feelings of Mathewson. Brown gave one pass, his first since returning from the east, and set down four men on strikes.

The Cubs started the game peerless leaderless to some extent. Manager Chance was able to lend only his moral courage and advice to his team, while he nursed a badly swollen digit, the result of trying to catch a foul fly on the end of it the day before. That necessitated putting Hofman on first and Howard in center, as Slagle still was lame. But when Artie wrenched his foot in the seventh inning sliding to second with his second steal Slagle was pressed into service and Howard went on first base.

Swatting Honors Divided.

Before "Circus Solly" was hurt, however, he had established a cinch claim to the swatting honors by three singles in four times up. Howard, the other utility lad, was close up with two singles and a near hit, and they divided the run manufacturing honors with Schulte.

Seymour's injury occurred in the fourth inning on a Texas league hit by Howard to short center. Dahlen and Seymour both took after it full tilt, with the crowd yelling eagerly, preventing a warning sound reaching either man. For an instant it looked like a terrific head-on collision, as both were running low and straight at each other. Just before they met, Dahlen swerved slightly to look up for the ball, and that perhaps prevented a fatality. As it was, the men's shoulders crashed together, and, glancing apart, they rolled over and over on the turf. Dahlen was up in a minute, with only a shaking up to show for the crash, but Seymour writhed in pain on the ground for many minutes, and finally had to be assisted to the clubhouse, from which came a request for a cab to take the wounded man to the hotel as soon as he dressed.

The Giants threatened slightly in the opener, Shannon leading off with a hit which eluded Evers. But Brown made a great stab of Browne's hit and forced Shannon at second. Devlin and Seymour hit to Tinker, and the danger was past.

Costly Youngster Fumbles.

The Cubs won the game in their half. Hofman led with a clean rap to left and was sacrificed to second by Sheckard. Schulte raised a foul near enough to the plate to permit the shinguarded Bresnahan to get under it, then Howard rolled a fast one past Mathewson to Doyle, who fumbled, letting Hofman score. Steinfeldt fanned.

For the next four innings the game was airtight. Doyle opened New York's third with a single, but remained on first while two Giants were being disposed of, then perished stealing. Schulte pulled down in far right the only other thing which looked like a single in five innings, robbing Bresnahan of a hit.

Mathewson was almost as effective, but the Cubs were only saving their fire. With Brown out in the sixth, Hofman rattled his second single into left and stole second. Sheckard was passed and Schulte stung a liner into left so fast Shannon could not head it off. The ball shot to the bleacher fence, with "Spike" in full pursuit, while two pairs of Cub legs scurried across the plate and a third pair dashed to third. Howard rapped Schulte home with a single to left, took second on Steinfeldt's out, and scored when Tinker pulled another hard single into left. Evers skied to Browne.

Brown Steady as a Clock.

That settled the battle, for Brown showed no sign of wavering. In the last four innings two hits were made and one Giant walked, but without getting dangerously near the plate. In fact, in the whole nine rounds only two men reached second base alive, and in both instances there were two out when they got there.

A low throw by Dahlen gave Brown a life and the Cubs an opening in the seventh, but Mordecai was caught off first by a snap throw from Bresnahan. Hofman then singled and put himself on the hospital corps stealing second. Slagle replaced him on the base and Sheckard flied. Score:

NOTES OF THE CUBS' GAME.

New York again today.

A single in the second by Evers made five in succession for Johnny, including his four of the day before.

Strang ran back and captured a long one which Steinfeldt meant for a three bagger in the eighth inning, with Schulte on second and one out. It was so long Schulte easily reached third on it.

Tinker spoiled a hit for Shannon in the ninth inning by scooping a grounder close behind Brown with one hand. He threw without recovering and got the fleet Giant, Howard making a good play at his end.

Evers nearly coppered McGann's hit at the opening of the eighth, going far back of second for it. He took one from Mathewson in the same general direction, but it was a high bounder, and staid up so long Matty beat the throw to first.

Dahlen wore a feather in his cap, which may have mascoted him safely through the collision with Seymour. Bresnahan did not wear his bombproof headgear, but carried the usual chip on his shoulder in addition to the guards on his shins.

Manager Chance will be kept out of the game for several days by his injured finger, and it was feared last night Hofman's foot would be badly swollen today. Slagle is not entirely recovered, still the Cubs will present a game front today. Kling will be eligible once more, his suspension expiring last night.

Mordecai Brown fouled off several balls in the third, then tipped one just to the left of the plate and it struck a man sitting in the front row in the face, knocking him over and apparently out for a few seconds. Neighbors held him up and he recovered in a minute, but the accident unnerved Mordecai and he struck out on the next ball pitched.

ISSUES LIST OF "FARMHANDS."

National Commission Warns Major Clubs to Exercise Options on Loans to Minors This Month.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 2.—The national baseball commission today gave out the following notice pertaining to major league players who were sold to minor league clubs with options to recall them before Aug. 25, 1907. The notice is as follows:

"The national baseball commission has decided to and hereby promulgates a list of all major league players who have been sold to minor league clubs under agreements submitted to and approved by the commission, containing options held by various major league clubs to recall such players on or before Aug. 25, 1907."

Following are the players on which the two Chicago clubs retained options when they sold them to minor league clubs, and the prices at which they can be repurchased:

Nationals—To Nashville, Perdue, $1,000; to Montgomery, Seabaugh, $750; to Indianapolis, Chenault, $1,500.

White Stockings—To Minneapolis, Dundon, O'Neil, James Freeman, Towne, $1,000 each.

The commission has decided that where a major league club desires to recall any player it must notify the secretary of the commission as well as the minor league club with which the player now is playing on or before Aug. 24, that it intends to exercise its option. It also must send to the secretary of the commission a check for the amount specified for each player, which will be forwarded by the secretary to the minor league club interested. Failure to notify the commission and the minor league club, and to transmit the check, will be taken as granted that the option is not to be exercised.

ITCHING PIMPLES TORMENT 5 BOYS

Arms and Hands Affected—Could Not Sleep Because of Itching—Suffered for Two Months Until Two Cakes of Cuticura Soap and

ONE BOX OF CUTICURA CURED THEM ALL

"I have five boys, from five to eleven years of age, who were affected some time last winter by some kind of skin disease. The worst parts of the body were around the arms and hands, where small pimples formed and itched. They suffered for two months so that they could not sleep at night. I noticed an advertisement about the Cuticura Remedies and we made a trial of one or two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment which gave great satisfaction. I washed their bodies with Cuticura Soap and then applied Cuticura Ointment every other day. Since then they have all been healthy. A. E. Carlson, Norcross, Travers Co., Minn., Nov. 26 and Dec. 23, 1906."

WORST ECZEMA

Baffled Medical Treatment For a Year, Cured by Cuticura.

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black splotches all over my face and a few on my body, which produced a severe itching irritation, and which caused me a great deal of suffering. I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of ——. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they announced it to be skin eczema in its worst form. They treated me for a year, but their treatment did me no good. Finally I became despondent and decided to discontinue their services. My husband purchased a complete set of Cuticura Remedies, which entirely stopped the breaking out. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and after that every splotch was entirely gone and the affected parts left as clear as ever. I have not felt a symptom of the eczema for three years. Mrs. Lizzie E. Sledge, 540 Jones Ave., Selma, Ala., Oct. 28, '05."

TWO STARTERS IN BRIGHTON DERBY

Charles Edward Probably Will Be Favorite Over Frank Gill Today.

BOOKMAKERS ARE LOSERS

Speculators Have Better of the Layers as Result of Races at Beach.

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Only two starters are named to go in the Brighton Derby for 3 year olds at one and one-half miles tomorrow afternoon, as Peter Pan has been thrown out of training. Charles Edward probably will be a warm favorite over Frank Gill of the event. Each is to carry 126 pounds. Rialto doubtless will be the favorite for the Winged Foot handicap, for 2 year olds, six furlongs, the other feature event carded.

Bookmakers received another scorching at Brighton Beach today through the success of four heavily backed favorites, beginning with the 2 year old filly Gowan in the first race. Gowan, which ran in the name of the Oakland stable, was sent to the post by S. J. Lawler, who has put over many good things in recent years. The daughter of Armeath II. was backed from 40 to 1 to 7 to 1 and won in a drive by half a length from Rosimiro, which beat Desirous a head. James R. Keene's Masquerade was outrun always.

The feature event was a steeplechase for gentlemen riders. Mr. J. O'Brien put up a fine ride on Essex, the favorite, which romped home ten lengths in front of Blue Pigeon.

Dick Finnell was by far the best in the third race. He was off slowly, but Garner rode him patiently, making up lost ground with much skill, until on the far turn the favorite passed Tonny Bonero, the pacemaker, and breezed home with four lengths to spare. Lad of Langdon, always prominent, beat Tonny Bonero five lengths for the place.

Martin Doyle ran a good race in the handicap. He carried 125 pounds as if the impost were a feather, and when Notter let him down at the end of the back stretch he rushed to the front and galloped home an easy winner by three lengths. Orbicular closed resolutely and took the place from Moonshine.

Security rolled home in the fifth race. Beckman got him away from the post quickly and had the others beaten at the head of the stretch. Voorhees, after being thrown into the fence, finished in the place, three lengths before Escutcheon.

Wood and Howland in Golf Finals. Easterners Win at Tennis.

TWO RECORDS ARE MADE BY GOLFERS

Phelps and Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Stars at Onwentsia.

MAYFLOWERFINALTODAY

Warren K. Wood and Willie I. Howland to Meet for Possession of the Cup.

BY J.=G. DAVIS.

Two new records were made in the Onwentsia golf tournament yesterday. Mason Phelps and Kenneth Edwards of Midlothian, in winning the Lake county cup, 4 and 2, put the foursome mark at 73, clipping three strokes off the best previous mark, made by their opponents, D. E. Sawyer and W. P. Schatz of Wheaton, who won last year, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Alexander of Onwentsia made a gross total of 59 for the twelve holes played in the Benedict cup competition. This is played for over the first ten and last two holes. Last year Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Pillsbury of the home club set a record of 61 gross. Yesterday the Alexanders had a handicap of 3 and won the cup for the second time with a net of 56. Their first success was in 1905. The Pillsburys also have won twice, in 1902 and 1906.

Wood a Slight Favorite.

Warren K. Wood of Homewood and Willie I. Howland of Skokie are the finalists in the Mayflower cup contest, the former defeating Mason Phelps, the former Yale champion, 3 and 2 in the semi-finals, and Howland, the present Yale champion, defeating the veteran, R. H. McElwee of Onwentsia, 4 and 3. Wood is a slight favorite for the thirty-six hole final today.

Nathaniel F. Moore of Lake Geneva, who was runner up to Allan Lard of Washington in the united north and south championship at Pinehurst in April, and Willie Clow Jr. of Onwentsia and Yale, the present eastern intercollegiate champion, came through the semi-finals for the Solace cup, and will meet for the trophy today.

Albert Seckel of Riverside and L. A. Grote of Wheaton will meet for the Tyro cup, and J. S. Hylan of Westward Ho and N. C. Mason of Exmoor for the Illinois cup.

The La Salle cup, open to players put out in the first rounds for the four cups, was won by Bland Ballard Jr. of Onwentsia with a net score of 150, aided by an allowance of 28. Other scores were C. Zeublin, Midlothian, 165—12—153; J. S. De Moss, Tuscumbia, 166—10—156; and Kenneth Edwards, 162—4—158.

Beaten, Not Disgraced.

Sawyer and Schatz, last year's winners of the Lake County cup, had the rather novel experience of making the round in 79 and losing, 4 and 2. They had as much success as the historical clamseekers, failing to get a single hole.

They took their defeat philosophically. Out in 36 and home in 37 sounds like auto speeding on the Ormond track. Taking the first hole, 400 yards, in 3-5, the Midlothian pair hardly gave the Wheaton team a chance on the out journey. They won the sixth and eighth holes and turned 3 up.

Coming home six holes were halved. Sawyer topped and pulled his drive to the polo field at the eleventh, but a hooked second by Edwards and an overapproach by Phelps led to a half.

Long Putt by Schatz.

A long putt by Schatz after a poor drive netted Wheaton a half in 5 at the long hole, after being outplayed to the green. At the next hole Edwards popped his approach into a sand pit, but Phelps stabbed it out, and, as Sawyer pulled his second, they halved.

Both teams were on the fifteenth green in 2. As Sawyer went to make his putt he discovered a snake in the cup. It had its mouth wide open and was waiting for the ball. Sawyer coolly removed the reptile off the green and two suspicious swellings just below its belt furnished some reason for the present congested state of the golf ball market. Ned was not rattled, so it was decided the snake was not a "rattler." The nineteenth hole is the right place for snakes.

Phelps Holes Twenty-five Foot Putt.

At the short hole Schatz pulled his iron tee shot, but Sawyer came within two inches of getting a two. Phelps ran down a twenty-five foot putt for the match. The cards:

TENNIS HONORS TO THE EAST

Hackett and Alexander Capture Western Title in Doubles.

BEAT NEELY AND EMERSON.

New Yorker's Play Brilliantly and Win Final Match, 6-0, 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

BY J. E. RICKER JR.

Once more the western tennis title in doubles has been taken to the east. In the finals of the western championship, played yesterday at Onwentsia, Hackett and Alexander, the star New York team, defeated John C. Neely and Nat Emerson, the last of the western pairs, three sets to one, the final score being 6—0, 4—6, 6—1, 6—1.

As a result of this match Hackett and Alexander will now meet the winners of the eastern and southern doubles tournaments at the Crescent Athletic club of New York, the winners of this round robin to qualify for the championship round at Newport against the present holders of the national title, Beals Wright and Holcombe Ward.

Victory Comes Easily.

While the victory of Alexander and Hackett came easily and cannot even be said to have been close, the western pair showed up strongly at times and succeeded in taking the second set, 6—4. The first set was taken by the easterners, 6—0, and was decidedly one sided. No play seemed too difficult for the New Yorkers. And Alexander especially made beautiful returns from every conceivable angle. The reverse twist he employed and the decisive playing of Hackett proved puzzling to the Chicago team.

In the second set Neely braced and he and Emerson changed their attack to the lobbing style, thus succeeding in wearing down the attack of the easterners. The lobbing of Emerson and Neely was clever, almost every ball dropping near their opponents' base line.

The third and fourth sets were easy for the eastern champions, who gave an exhibition of fast playing not equaled in the west for years. The smoothness of the easterners' teamwork was marveled at by the "gallery." Not once in the four sets was the least slip noticed. Although many of the games in both the third and fourth sets were fought up to the deuce point, the westerners were unable to annex the critical points and were able to take only one game in each set—the final score being 6—0, 4—6, 6—1, 6—1.

Misses Neely and Steever Win.

In the finals of the women's doubles played between Misses Neely and Steever, and Mrs. Williams and Miss Marie Wimer the former team won in straight sets, 6—2, 6—3. In the first set Mrs. Williams and Miss Wimer started out brilliantly, but failed to keep up the pace. In the second set they improved greatly, and contested every point. One game, the fifth, went to deuce twelve times before Mrs. Williams and Miss Wimer were able to capture the final point. The sixth was almost as long, but Miss Steever and Miss Neely took it finally, making the score 4—2 in their favor. The seventh game went to Mrs. Williams and Miss Wimer, but the eighth and ninth proved fairly easy for the Kenwood team, and gave them the match, 6—2, 6—3.

The semi-finals of the mixed double tournament proved of great interest to the gallery. In the upper half the Illinois state champions, Miss Steever and Dr. Lee, defeated one of the Onwentsia teams, Miss Edith Hoyt and Morris Johnston, after a remarkably close match. Miss Hoyt played beautiful tennis, volleying at the net in great style. Scores, 6—4, 1—6, 7—5.

Quick Contest in Lower Half.

In the lower semi-final Mrs. Williams and J. J. Fustall proved too strong for Miss Wimer and William Scudder and took two straight sets, 6—4, 7—5.

As a result of these matches Mrs. Williams and Fustall and Miss Steever and Dr. Lee will meet in the final round this afternoon. The finals in women's singles between Mrs. Williams and Miss Neely and the finals in men's singles, which also will be for the championship because of the fact that Kreigh Collins will not defend, also are slated for decision this afternoon.

Results of Other Games.

Other contests yesterday resulted as follows:

Men's doubles, semi-final round—Emerson and Neely beat Hayes and Peters, 6—2, 4—6, 7—5, 7—5.

Consolation singles, third round—McLaury beat J. A. Lee, 6—3, 6—4; Farber beat Elliott, 6—1, 8—6.

MINOR LEAGUE STANDINGS.

"GOOD THING" FAILS TO LAND.

Hamilton Sports "Stung" in an Effort to Win Bookmakers' Money on Steeplechase Race.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—A gang of Hamilton sports that has cut loose several good things in the steeplechase races at Hamilton and Buffalo was badly stung at Fort Erie yesterday. On Monday the clique won $1,500 on a steeplechase race. Yesterday they went to the track to "bump the bookies," and, it is alleged, the steeplechase was fixed for Lights Out to win. The bank roll was bet and the odds were hammered from 8 to 5 to even.

Track detectives became suspicious and notified the judges, and just before the horses went to the post the jockeys were warned if they did not ride right some of them stood a good chance of being ruled off for life. Before the fifth jump had been reached the backers of Lights Out heard the last post bell sounded. Kilmorie won at 2 to 1 and the best the good thing could do was to beat Sam Palmer for place. The combination lost more than $2,800.

Pacing Event Is Main Feature of Getaway Day at the Cleveland Meet.

FIRST HEAT IN 2:03½.

Oro Captures 2:06 Trot; Margaret O. and William O. Other Winners.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 2.—Getaway day was marked by a good program, of which the free for all pace was the feature. The track was a trifle soft and a high wind was blowing.

There were four starters in the pacing event. Baron Grattan drew the pole, with Angus Pointer second. The Pointer gelding won the first heat after Grattan had set the pace to the three-quarter pole, the time being 2:03½, the fastest made in a race this year. Angus Pointer won the second and final heat, with Baron Grattan second, Gratt and Argot Boy being placed third and fourth. A mixup took place at the turn, in which Geers cut in too short ahead of Argot Boy, so the judges placed Cox's horse.

The 2:06 trot was won by Oro after four heats. Summary:

EXIT FORAKER.

Now that the clouds have been cleared away from the scene of the first political skirmish in Ohio it is possible to get some light on the action of the state committee. The situation was complicated. Senator Foraker was personally hostile to the president, and had opposed him on the railroad rate bill and in the Brownsville affair. Perhaps the president's penchant for Judge Taft was the cause of the extreme bitterness of Senator Foraker.

Some of the secretary's overzealous friends among the congressmen and federal office holders in Ohio made the mistake of including the elimination of Senator Foraker in their plan to indorse Mr. Taft. The challenge indiscreetly thrown down was as indiscreetly taken up by the senator. He made the issue not only personal but political, and injected the tariff issue into the question of indorsement. His defeat in some quarters has been considered not only a vindication of the president's policies but also as indicative of a rampant sentiment for tariff revision in Ohio. THE TRIBUNE believes that the time for tariff revision is coming. Ohio is less of an ultra high tariff state than it was, but the state committee did not indorse Taft because it was moved by any strong revisionist feeling. It did so because the voters in the state would not permit Foraker to stand in the way of the indorsement of their favorite son, who might secure the presidential nomination, while Foraker could not.

The real meaning of the action of the committee is that the people in Ohio are going to have their own way. "Fire Alarm Joe" is no longer boss. If he goes back to the senate it will be on sufferance, and not because there is any spirited demand for his reëlection.

THE MONSTROUS SURPLUS.

Ellis H. Roberts, who was for several years treasurer of the United States, writes in the North American Review on "The Wrong of the Great Surplus." The wrongdoer is the national government, which is annually collecting millions of revenue which it does not need or expend. The sufferers by the wrongdoing are the taxpayers, who ought to be allowed to use in their own way, for their own purposes, the money represented by the excess of government receipts over government expenditures.

The surplus for the last fiscal year was nearly $90,000,000, or 13 per cent of the total income. A private individual or a corporation could "point with pride" to such a record. A government which lives off taxes cannot do so. A large surplus proves its ignorance of the art of equalizing income and outgo, and thus avoiding unnecessary taxation.

The surplus of the last fiscal year added to the surpluses which have accumulated since 1893 makes a total of $271,000,000. Assuming $50,000,000 as a proper balance for current cash, there remains $211,000,000 which has been extorted from "industry and thrift" for no good purpose. The money earns nothing for the government. Most of it is deposited in national banks, which pay no interest on it. If it were not got into circulation in some way acute business distress would follow.

To defend the system of taking their money from the taxpayers and then letting them have the use of it if they will pay the banks in which it is deposited interest is impossible. If any state government were to attempt to pile up a great surplus in its treasury by overtaxing the community the people would demand and get a reduction of taxes. The people of the United States are entitled to a reduction of taxes, which are 13 per cent higher than they should be.

But how shall the reduction be made? Mr. Roberts does not shut his eyes to the difficulties. The brewers will say "take the tax off beer and cut off $60,000,000 of revenue." The tax is a just one and easily collected. The prohibitionists will say "abolish the tax on spirits and enact a national prohibition law." That is another tax which will not, and should not, be given up.

Nearly one-half of the revenues of the government come from customs duties. The free trader will say, "put low duties on a few articles of general consumption and let everything else go on the free list." That is advice which the country will not take.

Nothing remains but reasonable, moderate, intelligent revision of the tariff. There are some materials, such as lumber, hides, and iron ore, which should be put on the free list. As far as possible the raw materials, which the American manufacturer must be able to buy as cheaply as his foreign rivals if he is to compete with them in the markets of the world, should be relieved from taxation.

All unreasonably high duties should be scaled down. The first effect would be to stimulate imports and in some cases to increase the customs receipts. But the American manufacturers who have been receiving excessive protection and asking extortionate prices would be compelled to lower their prices. Then imports and receipts would decline.

It is possible to revise the tariff in such a way as to give material aid to American manufacturers, and thereby to American workingmen; to give substantial relief to American consumers, and to reduce materially the monstrous annual surplus. There is a temptation to draw on it for the construction of the Panama canal, a work for which future generations should pay. The surplus is a constant stimulus to congressional extravagance.

Congress alone can cut down taxes and reduce a surplus, which stands for a tax on trade and industry.

It has got to do so, the standpatters to the contrary notwithstanding.

A REAL SENATORIAL ISSUE?

The senatorial aspirations of the Hon. William E. Mason are beginning to assume proportions as serious as those of the senator himself. It is not only currently reported that the senator himself is taking his candidacy seriously but it is intimated that there are others who do likewise.

Of the oratorical ability of the Hon. Billy there can be no question. He is fluent, vituperative, pathetic. He can run the whole gamut of human emotions on the rear end of a railway car. As a mixer he cannot be beaten, but further than this he has found an issue, and a real one.

Mr. Mason challenges Senator Hopkins to submit his candidacy to the republicans of the state at the primaries. The senator replies that he is unable to consider, accept, or decline the challenge from a gentleman of Mr. Mason's caliber. We think that the senator overestimates his inability. He may not want to join issues with ex-Senator Mason or to treat the people of Illinois to a series of joint debates. He is under no compulsion to do so. There is no earthly reason why he or his rival should follow in the footsteps of the immortal Lincoln and Douglas, nor any likelihood that they will.

We do not know what the result of the primaries would be, but it is certain that Senator Hopkins' position would not be weakened with those who are friendly to him or with those who are opposed to him if he should avow his readiness to permit the public to decide whether his record in the senate justifies an extension of his term by six years.

OVERCROWDING THE STAGE.

Young men and women who are throbbing with ambition to become Booths and Bernhardts, and who have their own assurance that the theatrical life is clamoring for them, will be interested in the statement from a theatrical agent that 4,000 actors have been idling away the summer in Chicago. The word "actor" is used with much latitude, applying to all those unfortunates who think that any connection with the stage is a position of honor and profit and who delude themselves with the idea that the possession of the ordinary anatomical proportions, with a limited amount of human intelligence, equips them for a professional career before the footlights.

It is hardly just to say exactly how many capable clerks and cooks and useful housemaids have been lost to the world through the theatrical craze, but taking the agent's figures as a basis it may be presumed that possibly 3,900 persons of both sexes have been thus deceived. The idea has prevailed in young and foolish circles that stage life is accurately described by the farmer in one of Sol Smith Russell's favorite stories when he says that theatrical people "don't do anything but play." The fact that they "play" in many instances night and day for paltry salaries, that they are almost totally deprived of home comforts, and that in short their existence conforms closely to Mr. Mantalini's "one demnition grind" never seems to enter into their calculations. As for such allurements of gilded gayety as may seem to offset the hardships, it would require more statistics in order to debate that debatable question.

To alleviate the misfortunes of many of these misguided seekers after fame and an easy and luxurious living it is proposed to organize a "union" by means of which stranded "actors" may be rescued from the wilderness and the swamps and brought back to the city, where at least the walking is good. The money advanced for their transportation and board will be taken out of future engagements. Remembering that salaries for the girls "range from $2 to $18 a week" one might gather that life might be spent between barnstorming and paying up rescue advances. All of which is highly creditable to a lofty artistic purpose but does not appear to offer much that is satisfactory and filling from the standpoint of personal comfort.

The world must be amused and the gayety of nations must be considered, and yet it would seem that with a 4,000 surplus in one city there is not that wide and brilliant horizon in the theatrical profession that should appeal to youth irrespective of dazzling talents. It is true that "there is always room at the top," but the top is so small that only a limited percentage of the 4,000 can stand comfortably thereon, to say nothing of the extra thousands who are eagerly awaiting the first opportunity to play or dance or sing themselves into the limelight. Mr. Punch's advice on the subject of marriage is cheeringly applicable to a majority of stagestruck boys and girls: "Don't."

THE OVERWORKED EMPLOYE.

That is a familiar story which was again brought to attention by the investigation of a recent railway wreck in Michigan in which thirty-one lives were lost and 100 persons were injured. The agent at one of the stations said that he had so many things to look after it was impossible to attend to his duties as telegraph operator. It was his work to look after the mail, carrying it to the postoffice, to sell the tickets, to handle baggage and freight, to keep the switch lamps in order, and to do the sundry other things which ordinarily fall to the lot of an agent in a small place. Being absent for a few minutes to take the mail to the postoffice, he was not on duty at his desk when the special train passed by on its way to destruction.

What happened at Salem, Mich., has happened many times before in this country, and is likely to occur again. The average station agent is badly overworked. It is economical, of course, to have one man act as telegraph operator, ticket seller, freight agent, baggageman, express agent, yardmaster, janitor, and messenger. The several duties are often performed without serious conflict, but when the time comes for such a Pooh Bah to do two or three things at once the disadvantage of the situation is plainly apparent. The wonder is that the results of such economy have not been far more disastrous.

In the meantime the slaughter of human beings by the railroads goes steadily on. Little impression is made by the daily reports of the few killed here and there. When the summary is made it is a distressing one. More people were killed on the railroads of the United States during the first three months of the present year than were lost during the entire Spanish-American war. The battle of Gettysburg holds a place among the decisive battles of the world's history. The three days' fight brought great losses to union and confederate forces alike. Yet these losses are equaled by the total casualties on the railroads during three months of a given year.

The reason for the accidents which are constantly occurring are many, but there is none more common than the overwork which so-called economy brings to the railroad employés. In three months of 1907 the property losses and damages which the railroads had to meet amounted to $3,536,110, this figure being a purely commercial one, which does not represent the total losses attendant upon the death of nearly 500 persons and the injury of more than ten times as many others. If there were less overwork of employés and less economy in the pay rolls much of the dreadful sacrifice of life and limb might be avoided.

COMMANDER PEARY is off for his fifth to the pole.

CONCERNING Police Commissioner Bingham's lucid explanation that the crime wave in New York City is nothing but a "periodical influx of depredation synchronous with the 'ripper' outrages of Germany, New Jersey, and this state," we infer that when Gen. Bingham has succeeded in abolishing the synchronosity the periodical influx will cease to depredate.

"IN Kansas," says an exchange, "the stern arm of the law has stepped in and decreed that bakers shall no longer knead dough with their feet." It is high time, therefore, for the stern foot of the law to seize the cabbage raisers in its sinewy grasp and utter the imperious demand that they shall no longer pack their sauerkraut in barrels by the process of tramping it with their bare hoofs.

Too Much Publicity.

They sat on the vine embowered porch, looking at the glorious planet in the southern sky.

"I suppose you know, Miss Gladys," said the young professor, hitching his chair nearer, "that Mars is nearer to us now than it will be again for a period of fifteen years?"

"Mercy, no!" she exclaimed. "I didn't know that. Take your arm away, Prof. McGoozle, please. I feel as if everybody on Mars was watching us!"

Too Hasty.

"I want a package of cigaroots," said the dignified but diminutive customer, carelessly tossing a bank note on the counter.

"I can't sell 'em to you," answered the salesman at the cigar store.

"I'd like to know why you can't, sir."

"Don't want to get into trouble with the law."

"What has the law got to do with it?"

"It forbids selling such things to minors; that's all."

The diminutive customer drew an ivory card case from the breast pocket of his coat, extracted a card therefrom, and handed it to him. It bore this inscription:

SMALLEST MAN ON EARTH.

"Young fellow," he said, carelessly consulting his gold watch and yawning, "I was going with the girls while you were still wearing bibs. Hand over those cigs, if you please."

The salesman, with a voiceless gasp, hastened to comply, and Maj. Molecule, twirling his cane, leisurely strolled out of the establishment and mingled with his fellow men in the ever moving throng on the sidewalk.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Copyright: 1907: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

ROYAL Bourbons, especially those of the reigning house of Spain, will have breathed a sigh of relief on receiving the news last week of the death of the marquis de Valcarlos, who for a time was a familiar figure in the foreign and especially in the American colony in Paris.

He was one of the most unsavory members of the house of Bourbon, to which he belonged, as the son of the royal Infanta Josefa and of Guel y Rente, the Havana newspaper reporter with whom she eloped and married. Old Queen Isabella, who at first was enraged beyond all measure by the escapade of the princess but subsequently became reconciled to the match, developed a great regard for her Cuban brother-in-law, Guel y Rente, created him a senator of the kingdom, and bestowed titles on his two boys, of whom the elder, Raymundo Guel y Borbon, was created marquis of Valcarlos. The marquis, on attaining manhood, entered the army, was rapidly promoted, and soon found himself as military attaché of the Spanish embassy at Paris, with the rank of lieutenant colonel. Queen Isabella, who made her home on the banks of the Seine, was kind to her nephew, and she, as well as her daughter, the Infanta Eulalie, was present at his marriage to the daughter and heiress of old Alberti, partner of the well known banker Oppenheim.

Valcarlos, who was terribly extravagant, ended by exhausting the patience and the generosity of his wife, of his father-in-law, of Queen Isabella, and of the remainder of the Spanish royal family, and ultimately was driven by financial straits to add to his functions as military attaché of the Spanish embassy those of a spy and of a secret agent of the French war department.

* * *

It was in this way that he became implicated in an extremely unsavory manner in the Dreyfus scandal. It was publicly demonstrated in that connection that for several years, notably from 1893 to 1895, he had been receiving a regular allowance per month from the secret service fund of the French war department, besides many additional sums for special services; and, while he persistently denied these charges, he admitted over his signature that he had received a number of payments from the secret service fund of the French war department, but for the use of a third person, whose name he declined to give. The fact that he should, while the military representative of Spain in Paris, have accepted money from the secret service fund of the French war department speaks volumes, since it could only have been paid to him either for the sale of Spanish military secrets or else for the acquisition, by means mostly foul and rarely fair, of the military secrets of other powers. Under the circumstances the Spanish government had no alternative left but to at once dismiss him from his post of military attaché and from the army and to insist that he remain abroad, while naturally his royal relatives and his former friends declined to have anything further to do with him.

Publicly disgraced and completely ostracised, he died last week in the utmost obscurity and in straitened circumstances at Melun.

Lord Lamington has been compelled by his wife's health to resign the lucrative office of governor of Bombay, and is returning to England after a long term of office abroad, his governorship of Bombay having been preceded by that of Queensland, where he endeared himself to the Australians and appealed to the sporting instincts of the colony by acquiring the difficult art of breaking buck jumpers.

He is a useful member of the peerage, will be remembered in this country as having officiated as best man to Lord Curzon on the occasion of the latter's marriage to Miss Mary Leiter at Washington, and has acquired fame as an Asiatic traveler and explorer.

He was the first white man to enter and to explore the Shan state—and that alone—and on one occasion disappeared for so long a period into the wilds of Asia that he was given up for lost, subsequently returning, however, to civilization with a wonderful amount of information.

His title is of relatively modern creation, though his family is an ancient one. His father, Mr. Cochrane-Baillie, was a schoolfellow of Disraeli, who immortalized him in his novel "Coningsby" under the name of "Buckhurst."

The story goes that when the two lads were at school young Disraeli, who already indulged in dreams of future greatness, said to young Cochrane: "When I am prime minister of England, Cockie, I will make you a peer."

This proved to be a prophetic utterance, as Cochrane Baillie was in due course nominated to the house of lords by Lord Beaconsfield in recognition of services rendered to the conservative party.

* * *

His son, the present Lord Lamington, is known among his friends by the name of Wallace, and, while proud of his Cochrane ancestry—he represents a junior branch of that ancient and historic Scottish house of which the earl of Dundonald is chief—prizes still more highly his descent from Scotland's most famous hero, Sir William Wallace.

According to the popular legend current throughout Scotland, and there universally believed, the patriot Wallace contracted a marriage with the fair Marion de Bradfute, daughter of Hugh de Bradfute, owner of Lamington castle.

She was killed by the English about two years after her marriage, but not before giving birth to a daughter, who married one of the Baillies, who inherited Lamington. Nineteenth in descent from this union is the present Lord Lamington, Lamington, once the home of William Wallace, having passed into the possession of Lord Lamington's Cochrane ancestors through the marriage of his grandfather, Admiral Sir Thomas Cochrane, to Mathilda Ross Baillie, heiress of the Baillies of Lamington.

Of the old Lamington castle little save the tower of Lamington, a picturesque fragment of the fortress, remains. But the present mansion, a handsome stone house with projecting eaves, was, with characteristically Scotch thrift, built for the greater part with stone taken from the old castle, where Mary queen of Scots tarried a while on her road to Dundrennan and where the Jacobite pretender found refuge after his disastrous retreat from Derby.

Lord and Lady Lamington are particular favorites of the prince and princess of Wales, and although Lady Lamington, a fair haired, pleasant, sunny tempered, and pretty woman of medium height, has been away from England for so many years and never has been able to take her turn of duty in attendance on the princess of Wales, yet the latter always has insisted upon retaining the name of Lady Lamington on the list of the members of her household as one of her ladies in waiting.

M. de Struve made so many friends in America during the long years that he represented Russia at Washington as envoy of the czar, that plenty of readers will, I am sure, be sorry to hear of his death at Wiesbaden, where he took up his residence on resigning his last post, as minister plenipotentiary at The Hague.

By no one will he be more sincerely mourned here than by Baron Rosen, the present Russian ambassador in America, who was his devoted secretary when Struve was minister at Tokio and when together they accomplished the extraordinary feat of inducing the Japanese to surrender to Russia Saghalien in exchange for the useless Kurile islands, under the nose of the English envoy, Sir Harry Parkes, whose first knowledge of this deal, so advantageous to Russia and so injurious to the interests of the Japs and of the English, came to him from St. Petersburg via the foreign office in London.

M. de Struve was assisted in his diplomatic achievements not only by Rosen, who was more of an intimate friend than a mere attaché, but also by his wife, the late Mme. de Struve, who predeceased him. She was one of the clever and brilliant sisters of Gen. Annenkoff, the creator of the Transcaspian railroad, and one of her sisters is the wife of the vicomte de Vogue, member of the French academy and frequent contributor to Harper's Monthly and other American reviews; while another sister, now dead, married the late Duke Nicholas of Leuchtenberg, a prince of the reigning house of Russia, by whom she left two sons, who each, of them have the title of "duke," though without their father's predicate of imperial highness.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS.

BY JEANNETTE L. GILDER. | REVIEWS OF CURRENT PUBLICATIONS. | BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

SUMMER POETS WHO PIPE IN VARYING KEYS. AN ENGLISHMAN AND SOME AMERICANS.

Alfred Noyes' "A Flower of Old Japan," Mrs. Olive Tilford Dargan's "The Woods of Ida," Percy Mackaye's "Sappho and Phaon," a Composite Drama.

THERE are symbols of many sorts, and most of them are immemorial, have a a classic history, and are recognized universally. Alfred Noyes, however, has set himself to the making of certain symbols of his own. His "FLOWER OF OLD JAPAN" [the Macmillan company] is a sort of allegory of dreams and little joys, and the literalist will have sorry work if he attempts to read it by the light of his intelligence and his knowledge of English. Nothing will interpret it but fancy—or should one say fantasy?

The road to old Japan—you cry,
And is it far or near?
Some never find it till they die;
Some find it everywhere;
The road where restful Time forgets
His weary thoughts and wild regrets
And calls the golden year
Back in a fairy dream to smile
On young and old a little while.

Ah, let us follow, follow far
Beyond the purple seas;
Beyond the rosy foaming bar,
The coral reef, the trees,
The land of parrots, and the wild
That rolls before the fearless child
Its ancient mysteries:
Onward and onward, if we can,
To old Japan—to old Japan!

And the old Japan of the poet's meaning is no more, if you please, than the dreams you have dreamed, the roads you have wished to travel, the countries you have yet to see! This is his symbol of the place of young happiness—of the old, new child dreams. When he writes of Peterkin, "poor little Peterkin," he means any little boy—the boy you used to be or the boy who kisses you good-night and does not mind the gray in your hair, or the boy who ran to heaven before you, or the boy you ought to be loving and are too selfish to love. "The Hideous Hermit" is not a really truly hermit any more than the pirate in "Peter Pan" is a really truly pirate. He is only Something to Give You Thrills. It's all a sweet madness and only to be read at the full o' the moon—and only then if the fantasy that was your birthright is still alive in your heart—only if you can sing, with this young poet:

Dreams; dreams; ah, the memory blinding us,
Blinding our eyes to the way that we go;
Till the new sorrow comes, once more reminding us,
Blindly of kind hearts, ours long ago;
Still, though our paths lie lone and apart,
Yours is the true love, shining above for me,
Yours are the kind eyes, hurting my heart.

Dreams; dreams; ah, how shall we sing of them,
Dreams that we loved with our head on her breast:
Dreams; dreams; and the cradle-sweet swing of them;
Ay, for her voice was the sound we loved best:
Can we remember at all, or, forgetting it,
Can we recall for a moment the gleam
Of our childhood's delights and the wonder begetting it,
Wonder awakened in dreams of a dream?

Mr. Will Reed Dunroy, a young poet of no little spontaneity, has written some "RUBAIYAT OF THE ROSES," (Theodore Jerome Coe, St. Louis,) in which he has, in the meter chosen by Edward Fitzgerald, written to counteract the sinister philosophy of old Omar. Certainly his song is much more in keeping with the best aspirations of the present day, though it lacks the murky splendor of old Omar's thought.

It is after this fashion that Mr. Dunroy sings; the stanzas being chosen here and there throughout his book:

Come drink your fill of morning and of spring;
The larks in sudden joy begin to sing;
The morning dews are gleaming on the heath;
Then forth to fields where bees are on the wing.

It matters not how fast the mornings run;
How swiftly may ascend yon eager sun;
The day is yours, with all its jeweled hours—
May each more precious than the former one.

It cannot be that life is but a day,
That all we are is centered in this clay;
There is a deathless Something that abides
When fleshly things have crumbled to decay.

I sometimes think the silence of the dead
Divides us only by a single thread
From radiant realms of which, if we but knew,
Our feet would haste through death and hell to tread.

The things that God, the Lord, concealed from me,
I will not peevishly demand to see,
Nor shall I seek to rend the mystic veil
Behind which he has hid his Mystery.

Though black and bitter drafts may fill your cup,
Remember that the One who filled it up
Knows why the task was made so passing hard,
And will reward you if you bravely sup.

And, when at last my feet shall touch the brink,
I shall not falter nor one moment shrink,
But step out boldly on the darksome flood;
For faith shall buoy me so I shall not sink.

The garden slumbers through the darkling night,
Nor mourns the sun that made the noonday bright;
For every sleeping blossom knows full well
That in its proper time will come the light.

But e'en amid the city's rush and pride,
If we but heed, his hand is near to guide;
And in the turmoil of the Market place
His presence may be felt, close by our side.

I cannot resist the temptation, being upon the subject of poetry, to call attention to the masque by Mrs. Olive Tilford Dargan, printed in the August Century and entitled "THE WOODS OF IDA." Brief as it is in the nature of things, and after the old classic and artificial models though it admittedly is, yet it has a loveliness which must appeal to the modern heart as surely as it would have done to the heart of the beauty loving ancient.

It is the story of the love of the young Anchises, first for Thesta, a nymph, then for great Venus, who consents to have her hour of joy with him; and then again for Thesta, who, dim with tears, and renamed Fidea, for her loyalty and her sorrows, comforts him when he has been stricken blind by Zeus for his wrongdoing. In this manner Thesta consoles her lover for his blindness:

Sometimes we cannot see for too much sun,
That drowns the landscape's sweeter variation
Most clear 'neath shadowing clouds; so does the eye,
Supreme and arrogant, obscure the worlds
The modest, meeker senses bring to us,
Til't almost seems we are no more than eyes.
We say the winds make moan, the waters murmur,
The grass is soft, the bird's song shrill or sweet,
The bough is fragrant and the fruit is lush;
But if the eye would spare us beauty's flood,
What new delights would creep into our joy
From paths uncovered then! The forest's spirit
Would to our love betray the tale of winds
And whisper of the leaf; the questioned stream,
No more a gossip, would in holy mood
Unwind its pilgrim secrets; birds would call
The ecstasy expectant where faint feet
Are trembling to dim temples never seen
But when the sense o'er takes the shriven soul;
The rose would be an unregarded guide
To dearer, odorous rivers of the air,
Stealing from sources sweet and bearing each
A legend no more sealed; fruits on our lips
Would prisoned summers break, nor first give half
Unto the eye—life's captain forager
And custom-chartered thief.

Here, it will be perceived, is not only the flowing and bedight line but the substantiality of thought which gives to poetry its right of precedence over other writing.

Never was there of a drama of more peculiar architecture, so to speak, than Mr. Percy Mackaye's "SAPPHO AND PHAON" (The Macmillan company). It consists of a prologue, an induction, a prelude, a tragedy, or play within a play, and two interludes. One expects—I had almost said, apprehends—an epilogue, which duly appears, but is commendably brief.

The prologue presents a group of modern scientists and connoisseurs in the excavations of Herculaneum, who find among other treasures an actor's make-up box, and the scroll containing the tragedy of "Sappho and Phaon," written by the poet Varius, presented by the actor Actius and others, and listened to, among others, by Vergil and Horace. The poet among these moderns is left alone in the excavations, and summons from the past the spirits of the long dead immortals, and is answered by the ghosts of Horace, Vergil, Varius, and Actius and his company. The actors play Varius' tragedy in the theater. This presents a high promontory overlooking the Ægean sea, with the temple of Lesbos and the altar of Aphrodite, and Poseidon visible.

The result of the play, as it will be presented by Bertha Kalisch, to whom it belongs, will be, it is surmised, a persuasive picture of Greek life; or, rather, the pagan spirit, in all its violence, beauty, pathos, and limitation, will be induced. The interludes, which are in pantomime, will assist to this end. And of this spirit of a time of eager loves and splendid superstitions, of subtle vengeance and spacious dreams, Sappho is the essence. The sea is her mother, and father she has none. Beauty is her sister, passion her brother. She herself is as an element—a flame. To quote:

ATTHIS

What hath happened
That like an image thou sittest staring?

SAPPHO

(In a low voice)
Hark!
She is calling me.

ATTHIS

Who calls?

SAPPHO

My mother.

ATTHIS

(Starting)
Sappho!

SAPPHO

Dost thou not hear her sob and sing below us?
Her hollow lute is turquoise, and she touches
The silver strings of ever roaring reefs
Far off to sound her awful lullaby;
And while she croons, between her foaming breasts—
Like infants at their milk—Hyperion lies
And heaving Triton dreams. Us, too, us mortals,
She suckles there, and there she buries us.

ATTHIS

What new hymn art thou musing?

SAPPHO

Listen again!
O, such a sobbing cry did Thetis make
That night she rose beside the blood star'd beach
Of Troy, to her great Achilles, ere
He died. Me, too, she calls: "I sink, I sink!"
Atthis, I have heard the whirling cliff birds scream,
And watched my breasts burst up through the green waves
In moons of opal fire.

ATTHIS

I am afraid;
Is it some goddess calls thee?

SAPPHO

'Tis the sea,
The teeming, terrible, maternal sea
That spawned us all. She calls me back to her,
But I will not go. Her womb hath brought me forth
A child defiant. I will be free of her!
Her ways are birth, fecundity, and death,
But mine are beauty and immortal love.
Therefore, I will be tyrant of myself—
Mine own law will I be! And I will make
Creatures of mind and melody, whose forms
Are wrought of loveliness without decay,
And wild desire without satiety,
And joy and aspiration without death;
And on the wings of those shall I, I, Sappho!
Still soar and sing above these cliffs of Lesbos,
Even when ten thousand blooms of men and maids
Are fallen and withered—there."

In such measure—ardent and eager—does the drama swing along. When to its charm is added the wild genius of Kalisch much may be expected, and on the night when first this union of aspiring poetry and impassioned acting is achieved may all of us who love the "spoken line" be there to hear!

The book, or rather that part of "Northern Trails" which contains the story of "WAYEESES, THE WHITE WOLF," which excited the president against its author, William J. Long, Ginn & Co. have republished in a separate volume, with the illustrations by Charles Copeland. In a new preface the author reaffirms the trustworthiness of his narrative, as being the observations of one who, with a love for nature, has devoted himself to studying the ways of her children of the wilds. But in further confirmation of his statement to which special exception was taken—that of a wolf killing a caribou by biting his chest—he adduces the sworn statements of trustworthy authority. The book is too well known to need comment. The popularity which its merit and intrinsic interest secured for it will be only increased as the result of the recent controversy.

A new venture in book selling and publishing will be started in October, when Browne's book store will open in the Fine Arts building. It is proposed to include some unique features in the manner of selling books. Publishing on a limited scale will also be attempted. The new concern will be headed by Francis F. Browne, who has edited and published the Dial in this city for so many years.

"BACHELOR BETTY" (Dutton) is a story of considerable piquancy by Winifred James. Betty is a young girl who, after her beautiful sister has made an auspicious marriage, sets out from Australia to make an independent living for herself by her pen in London. Like the proverbial club of bachelor maids, which are usually well conducted matrimonial bureaus, Betty's vows of single blessedness last only to the end of the book; or, in other words, until she has had a flattering offer from a publisher for her book, and she and "The Youngest Man" are both assured that they alone need one another. There is a cheerful air to the story, and the author makes a brave attempt to give the reader some hard facts to carry away with him.

"THE EGO AND HIS OWN," A CONTRIBUTION TO CONTEMPORARY THOUGHT.

An English Translation of Stirner's Philosophical Work Seems Destined to Challenge Discussion. What the Book Stands For.

WITHOUT question the most startling book of the year is the English translation of Max Stirner's "Der Einzige und sein Eigentum," under the title of "THE EGO AND HIS OWN" (Benjamin R. Tucker, New York). The publisher is the leader of the school of philosophical anarchists in America, and in Stirner (Johann Kaspar Schmidt), who died in 1856 at the age of 50 years, he recognizes a kindred spirit. The English translation is by Steven T. Byington, an accomplished linguist.

Stirner's philosophy is the philosophy of egoism. All conduct, he contends, has self-interest as its motive. Even those who pose as altruists and do all in their power to promote the happiness of others, he asserts, do so because their ego compels them to—they would be miserable if they did not; hence they help others in order to please themselves. Even those who decry selfishness are egoists—unconscious egoists.

To a careful reader of the book Stirner seems to occupy a place midway between Nietzsche and Walt Whitman. He lacks the intense bitterness of Nietzsche, and is surpassed in gentleness by Whitman. Yet all three sing the song of the ego—of self. Nietzsche, however, never rid himself of the worship of aristocracy; he had an aim—the making of the "overman" by the crushing out of the weak by the strong. He apothesized tyranny. Stirner, on the contrary, although recognizing that tyrants are egoists, as all other persons are, battled against religion, government, and every ideal except the ideal of self-expression. So strong is his opposition to ideals that he will not admit that self-expression is an ideal, but is the all compelling thing itself without which life is impossible. Being inescapable, it cannot be an ideal.

His belief is expressed in the first line of Goethe's poem, "Vanitas! Vanitatum Vanitas!" "Ich hab' Mein' Sach' auf Nichts gestellt," a literal translation of which is, "I have set my affair on nothing." But perhaps the thought can be expressed better in the slang phrase, "I am the whole thing; all things else are nothing to me."

* * *

"What is not supposed to be my concern!" he cries. "First and foremost, the good cause, then God's cause, the cause of mankind, of truth, of freedom, of humanity, of justice; further, the cause of my people, my prince, my fatherland; finally the cause of Mind and a thousand other causes. But my cause is never to be my concern. 'Shame on the egoist who thinks only of himself!'"

But, he argues, even God's cause is purely egoistic. "God cares only for what is his, thinks only of himself, and has only himself before his eyes. . . . He serves no higher person, and satisfies only himself."

So with the cause of mankind. Mankind will promote the interest of mankind only, mankind is its own cause. "God and mankind have concerned themselves for nothing, for nothing but themselves? Let me likewise then concern myself for myself, who am equally with God the nothing of all others, who am my all, who am the only one. . . . The divine is God's concern; the human, man's. My concern is neither the divine nor the human, not the true, good, just, free, etc., but solely what is mine, and it is not a general one, but is—unique, as I am unique. Nothing is more to me than myself."

It is impossible to escape being an egoist, Stirner contends, but all are not conscious egoists—are not conscious of their egoism. Take, for example, the person who preaches against selfishness. Stirner says:

"Because he would like to cease to be an egoist, he looks about in heaven and earth for higher beings to serve and sacrifice himself to, but, however much he shakes and disciplines himself, in the end he does all for his own sake, and the disreputable egoism will not come off him. On this account I call him the involuntary egoist."

* * *

Even the so-called free thinkers who have discarded religion, Stirner contends, are still slaves of superstition. For example, he assails Proudhon, who has been called the father of individual anarchism. Stirner boldly declares that Proudhon was not an individualist, because he was a moralist. He says:

"So Proudhon, unabashed, says: 'Man is destined to live without religion, but the moral law is eternal and absolute. Who would dare today to attack morality?'"

Nietzsche did, and so did Stirner.

"The same people who oppose Christianity as the basis of the state," Stirner says, "do not tire of repeating that morality is 'the fundamental pillar of social life and of the state.' As if the dominion of morality were not a complete dominion of the sacred, a hierarchy."

But if you say to Stirner: "Surely one cannot put a rascal and an honest man on the same level," he replies:

"Now, no human being does that oftener than you judges of morals; yes, still more than that, you imprison as a criminal an honest man who speaks openly against the existing constitution, against the hallowed institutions, etc., and you intrust portfolios and still more important things to a crafty rascal. So in praxi you have nothing to reproach me with."

* * *

Stirner does not hesitate to carry his egoism to its ultimate. With him there is no such thing as duty to another or to society. He says boldly:

"What you have the power to be you have the right to. I derive all right and all warrant from me. . . . I am entitled by myself to murder if I myself do not forbid it to myself, if I myself do not fear murder as a wrong. . . . I decide whether it is the right thing in me; there is no right outside of me. If it suits me, it is right. . . . The tiger that assails me is in the right, and I who strike him down am also in the right. I defend against him not my right, but myself."

Every law, he declares, is an order, a declaration of will. "But," he says, "no one has any business to command my actions, to say what course I shall pursue and set up a code to govern it. I must put up with it that he treats me as his enemy, but never that he makes free with me as his creature, and that he makes his reason, or even unreason, my plumb line. . . . Every state is a despotism, be the despot one or many. . . . The state practices violence; the individual must not do so. The state's behavior is violence, and it calls its violence law; that of the individual 'crime.' Crime (verbrechen), then, so the individual violence is called, and only by crime does he overcome (brechen) the state's violence when he thinks that the state is not above him, but he above the state.

"Can I assume that one commits a crime against me, without assuming that he has to act as I see fit? . . . Only against a sacred thing are there criminals—you against me can never be a criminal, but only an opponent."

THOUSANDS RUSH TO CHARITY'S AID.

'Tribune' Babies Day at White City Proves Success in Every Way.

LARGE SUM IS REALIZED.

Endless Procession of Young and Old Who Freely Drop Dimes for Relief Work.

Misery exacted its toll from joy at White City last night. The toll will relieve the suffering of hundreds of frail mothers of the tenements, give ice to thousands of poor families, and extend a helping hand to the sick babies of the congested districts, who have to depend upon charity for the chance to live.

As a result of THE TRIBUNE babies' day at White City yesterday, THE TRIBUNE hospital and ice fund, the charity that supplies ice to keep the tenement babies' milk from spoiling and send convalescing mothers and sick children to THE TRIBUNE hospital at Algonquin, will be hundreds of dollars richer. The exact sum realized from the White City benefit will not be known until today, but when all the dimes are counted it is estimated that the White City will have given to the infant beneficiaries of THE TRIBUNE's two hot weather charities the largest sum ever realized from one benefit.

In spite of the threat of a storm that kept the crowds away during a greater part of the afternoon, when the sky cleared hundreds of children flocked in from the surrounding neighborhood, and toward evening the real crowds began to come.

At 5 o'clock the turnstiles to White City were revolving like windmills in a gale. Over the gate hung the announcement that it was THE TRIBUNE babies' day, and no passes would be honored, and the man with the pass cheerfully paid his dime. Everybody connected with the park, from President Beifeld, Treasurer Jones, and General Manager Howse down to the smallest boy that ever sold a program, dropped his or her dime into the ticket seller's till before being allowed to pass through the turnstile.

Endless Procession at Gates.

For three hours there was an endless procession of people filing through the gates, and as they swept from concession to concession they found everywhere evidences of the presence of the helping hand of charity. Over the doors of nearly every show lining the two board walks signs were hung bearing testimony to the fact that the whole cosmopolitan population of White City had joined together to help THE TRIBUNE babies. Announcements everywhere bore witness to the fact that 50 per cent of the receipts of all of the big attractions in White City were to be turned over to the relief of THE TRIBUNE babies. The spielers at the nineteen concessions, which divided profit with charity, appealed to the throngs in the name of THE TRIBUNE babies, and the throngs responded to the appeals.

The cold weather kept thousands away, but thousands went in spite of the weather and availed themselves of the privilege of helping to save the lives with a dime, and with the same dime buying the largest measure of amusement ever put on the market for 10 cents. Additional features were offered at every concession in White City.

At the Chicago Fire Spectacle the story of the burning of Chicago was told in the afternoon to the children in a way calculated to appeal particularly to them. At the Old Plantation the wax baby was added to the cast in honor of the day, and down south lullabies were sung to it. Special songs and dances were added to the program, and every merry Georgian was called upon to go through his entire repertory.

At Lindsay's Monkey and Dog Circus a number of new acts were introduced, and every monkey in the cast, from the sober faced Caruso to Jack, the bicycle rider, made the most of his opportunity to delight the children. At Mundy's Wild Animal Arena, on the other side of the Grand Plaza, real live Teddy bears occupied the limelight during the afternoon, and in the evening half a dozen performances for grownups were given with a number of extra features added.

The Incubator babies lent a hand to the suffering babies of the tenement by permitting themselves to be dressed in the costumes of French dolls. Phantom Queen, more enchanting than ever, was pursued by hundreds of people who hoped to earn a dollar by making their way into her mysterious chamber, but up to 10 o'clock no one had succeeded in finding his way through the maze of mirrors.

Drop Dimes for the Babies.

At the Fun Factory, the Human Laundry, Pilgrim's Progress, the Burning of the Robert E. Lee, Devil's Gorge, the Everglades, the Flea Circus, the Coaster, Venice the beautiful, Flying Airships, the Figure 8, Midget City, hundreds dropped dimes in the tills in aid of THE TRIBUNE babies, and still other hundreds availed themselves of special excursion rates offered on the Miniature Railway and Hale's system.

Annette Kellermann, the famous swimmer, and Count Chillo, the man who lets people look into the future, entertained throngs of THE TRIBUNE babies' friends, and even the sober faced, gayly dressed gypsies lent a helping hand. The entire gate receipts and 50 per cent of the receipts at the eighteen feature attractions of the park will be given to THE TRIBUNE babies, but the work of counting the dimes will not be completed until this afternoon, and in tomorrow's TRIBUNE announcement will be made of the total amount realized from White City's benefit.

CRIPPLES BACK FROM OUTING.

Maimed School Children Benefited by Five Weeks' Recreation in Camp at Saugatuck, Mich.

Sixty crippled children, pupils of the Fallon school, Forty-second street and Wallace avenue, returned yesterday after a five weeks' outing at Saugatuck, Mich.

In the camp at Saugatuck, which was under the direction of Miss Florence E. Prouty, assisted by Miss Dorothy Ray and Mrs. Charles Herchert, the children had the times of their lives. They were housed in sanitary cottages, so that they might enjoy every possible advantage of the vacation.

Policemen Benjamin Burns and Dennis O'Toole of the stockyards station accompanied the party, being detailed by Capt. Clancy, to protect the more helpless of the children, and assist them when moving time came. The outing was under the auspices of the South Side Crippled Children's Aid society.

Famous Sculptor Who Is Seriously Ill.

AUGUSTUS ST. GAUDENS

Cornish, N. H., Aug. 2.—Augustus St. Gaudens, the sculptor, is seriously ill at his home in this village and grave fears are entertained that he will not recover. Wednesday night Mr. St. Gaudens' condition was such that it was feared that he would not live through the night. He rallied, however, and yesterday was carried out to his studio, where he criticised and directed the work of his assistants.

Mr. St. Gaudens has been in failing health for more than a year, and for the last month his decline has been rapid. He has been almost helpless and unable to walk from his house to his studio. He has visited the studio nearly every day, being carried there by his attendants. He has done little work himself, but has directed the work of his corps of assistants.

DELUGED WITH TAX PLAINTS.

Flood of Protests May Force Reviewers to Meet Evenings.

IS LEASEHOLD REAL ESTATE?

Board Is Inclined to Class This Kind of Property as Personal.

Night sessions may be necessary for the board of review to wade through the volume of complaints on both personal property and real estate that have accumulated at the offices in the Assessors' building. Although the time for filing complaints officially ended on Thursday, the clerks continued to receive them yesterday, and probably will take in "kicks" until noon today.

Several thousand complaints have not been docketed because of the rush, and the question of night sessions therefore came under discussion. For some time to come it is the purpose of the board to hold hearings on personal property and on real estate on alternate days.

While hearing personal property complaints yesterday the board was asked to draw a line between real estate and personal property. It was the inclination of the board to class a leasehold as personal property.

The case arose when a representative of the Western Cold Storage Warehouse company appeared to object to the personal property assessment of $885,000 made against the concern. The board sat en banc, but was unable to decide without taking the case under advisement. It appears that the company owns the building, which it uses for a warehouse, but does not hold the fee to the land.

A man who said his name was Tomlinson and that he was agent for a firm at Huddersfield, England, didn't want to pay taxes on $1,500 worth of personal property. Most of his money, he said, was used up for living expenses. Reviewer West took a keen glance at the supplicant's silk stockings and nobby patent leather shoes, with the result that Tomlinson went away ungratified.

SHOCK FOR THE LANDLADIES

Half of California's Prune Crop Destroyed by Bad Weather.

PRICES ARE GOING UPWARD.

Great Shortage Also Reported in Yield of Pickle Cucumbers.

The author of the Cheerful Idiot had that amiable person estimate 10,000,000 pounds of prunes as the average annual consumption in boarding houses, but the cheerful one might have experienced a glow of satisfaction had he heard in South Water street yesterday that more than ten times that amount had been blighted by inclement California weather this year.

An increase of 3 cents or more a pound is announced. If the rise of prcie causes a similar rise in popularity because of scarcity the cost may go still higher.

California produced 200,000,000 pounds of prunes last year, and the mark this fall will be lowered at least one-half. The only other field to draw upon, beside the foreign, is that of Oregon, Washington, and Idaho, which together put out but 30,000,000 pounds. France, Germany, and England annually call for 50,000,000 pounds, and as they send in but 500,000, there will be but 80,000,000 pounds to meet the domestic demand.

Hardly less important to boarding house sufferers, is a threatened shortage of cucumber pickles. Blighting disease has attacked the cucumber vines throughout the country, withering the leaves and killing the plants. Last year there was a surplus of 1,000,000 bushels on hand at the opening of the season, but this fall, it is predicted, will see less than 75,000 bushels in the entire supply.

WITNESS FOR BILLIK TURNS.

Man Relied Upon to Secure New Trial Finds He Was Wrong When He Accused Mrs. Niemann.

In the efforts to obtain a new trial for Herman Billik, sentenced to death for the murder of Mary Vzral, attorneys for Billik placed great reliance on an affidavit signed by George Sellers, 188 West Congress street. In this affidavit he claimed to have seen a woman, whom he believed to have been Mrs. Emma Niemann, tearing a poison label from a bottle in the railway station at Galesburg, Ill., in 1906. Sellers was taken to the home of Mrs. Niemann yesterday and at once declared she was not the woman he saw at Galesburg.

It is the purpose to coöperate with the railroads and the interstate commerce commission and use influence in the formation of rules and regulations to fit common interests and secure modification of hurtful legislation.

Purpose of the Organization.

Its purpose is fully set forth in the following preamble:

Believing that publicity in transportation matters is essential to a complete and harmonious understanding of the relations between the public common carriers and legislators, this organization stands for and will undertake to promote, through the medium of its officers and organization, thorough knowledge of transportation affairs necessary to accomplish this object; also for the purpose of obtaining clearly defined laws governing interstate traffic; to interchange views regarding interstate legislation that does or may affect tnierstate commerce, that will relieve the public of all uncertainty as to its relations to the carriers; also for the purpose of acquainting the regular established tribunals of the needs of the shipping interests and the effect on commerce of rulings, decisions, and practices either fixed or to be determined by such bodies.

HAT AT STAKE WITH COLLIE.

Morris Friedman Anxious to Lay a Wager That Dr. Young Is Amenable to Civil Court.

There is a $5 hat at stake, as well as a fine collie dog, in the contention between Dr. Young, superintendent of the Marine hospital, and Morris Friedman, an official of the Northwestern Can company, if Dr. Young will say the word.

"I'll bet Dr. Young a $5 hat that he is mistaken in the stand he takes that a replevin issued in a civil court is not effective on federal territory," said Mr. Friedman yesterday.

This point will be the preliminary brush in Mr. Friedman's suit for possession of a dog now in Dr. Young's keeping, and which he claims belongs to him. The hearing will take place before Judge Fred L. Fake on Aug. 12. When the writ was served on Dr. Young he said it did not interest him, he being immune because he is a federal custodian. However, he has consented to appear in court.

"I have practiced law myself and think I am right," said Mr. Friedman. "It is true that no property belonging to the United States can be removed on a civil writ, but that doesn't include a government custodian's personal effects."

ALL RIGHT TO WHIP BULL PUP.

Judge Decides That Will H. Dilg Is Not Cruel—Pet Too Expensive to Be Mistreated.

That Will H. Dilg, 701 Pine Grove avenue, did not punish his 4 months old bull pup more severely than the pup deserved, or at least more than the law allows, was the decision of Municipal Judge Blake at the Sheffield avenue court yesterday when he discharged Dilg. The complainant was Mrs. Mary E. Goe, 1724 Waveland avenue, who had previously called the attention of the Illinois Humane society to what she considered Dilg's cruelty. The price paid for the dog by Dilg, $100, influenced the judge in his decision, as he said he believed no sensible person would pay so much for a pet and then mistreat it.

NEW YORK STOCKS LIFELESS.

Professionals Only Ones Taking Part in the Transactions.

MONEY CONDITIONS FEARED.

Outlook for Stringency Part Cause for Slack Business.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The failure of all but the professional traders to take any interest in the transactions on the stock exchange today led to almost utter stagnation and the price movements were correspondingly small. There was some small rise during the early dealings, which, after being lost, was regained later and the closing prices show but little net changes.

The causes to which the stagnation was attributed lay in the fact that London was not able to aid the local market on account of preparations for the holiday which opens tomorrow, and fears for the future of the money market. Reports of grain crop conditions also were unfavorable to the stock market.

The forecast of the week's currency movement gave warning of the unfavorable factors at work in the money situation. Yesterday's heavy credit balance of the subtreasury at the clearing house, on account of the Central Pacific note payment to the government, extended the week's loss of the banks to the government to $3,812,000. This includes the gold shipment to France on Tuesday, for which payment was made at the subtreasury, but not the outgo to Canada, which amounted to nearly a million dollars.

The banks report that the currency movement with the interior is still in their favor, but the week's gain from that source was probably less than a million dollars.

The resources of the United States treasury for relieving a possible money stringency this fall was brought to attention by the monthly circular of the National City bank, which concludes that a working balance of $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 in the treasury has been demonstrated to be ample, thus leaving $40,000,000 to $45,000,000 available.

The government report of the condition of cotton was again a disagreeable surprise, the improvement during July having proved much less than was anticipated in the trade.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $638,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call easier; 2¼@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2½; closing bid, 2½, offered at 2¾. Time loans firm; 60 days, 5@5¼ per cent; 90 days, 5¼@5½; 6 months, 6@6¼. Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange steady on decline with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8670@4.8675 for demand and at 4.8335@4.8340 for 60 day bills. Commercial bills, 4.83¼. Bar silver, 69⅝. Mexican dollars, 54½. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds irregular.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Money was firm on the market today and in good demand for holiday requirements. Discounts were harder. Trading on the stock exchange was apathetic, the holidays and the monetary situation operating adversely. Nevertheless, a generally steadier tone prevailed and consols and gilt edged securities were steady. Home rails were harder. Copper shares reflected the unsettled condition of the metal.

Americans opened dull, but rallied and advanced generally above parity. They continued firm and closed at the best prices of the day. Transactions, however, were small.

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—Trading on the boerse today was stagnant, but prices were steady. The prices of American securities scarcely changed.

PARIS, Aug. 2.—Trading on the bourse today was dull and heavy, and copper shares again weakened on New York advices. Russian imperial 4s closed at 72.50 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 508.00.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The market for dry goods holds strong and many buyers are operating in a conservative way. Large contracts are being entered into with cotton mills for goods to be delivered as far ahead as July, 1908. Cotton yarns were easier, but dealers think the losses in price will b recovered under the impetus of the government cotton report. The market for carpet wools is quiet.

Metals—Tin in London was lower, with spot at £179 10s and futures at £178 15s. Locally the market was dull and lower at $39.50@39.80.

Copper was lower in London, declining to £85 10s for spot and £82 5s for futures. Locally the market was weak and nominally lower. Lake, $20.00@21.00; electrolytic, $19.50@20.00; casting, $19.00@19.50. Lead was unchanged at $5.15@5.25 in the local market, but declined to £19 5s in London. Spelter was unchanged at £22 15s in London and at $5.85@5.95 locally. Iron was lower abroad. Standard foundry, 55s 9d; Cleveland warrants, 56s 9d. Locally the market was quiet and easy. No. 1 foundry northern, $22.75@23.20; No. 2 foundry northern, $22.00@22.70. Southern grades nominal.

Antimony—The demand for antimony continues at moderate proportions, with European quotations weak. The local market presents a dull appearance. Cookson's is quoted at 11c; Hallett's at 10@10½c, and other brands at 9@9½c. In the London market Hallett's is steady at £47 and ordinary brands at £42.

Butter—Steady, Unchanged. Receipts, 10,363 pkgs. Butter in Philadelphia—Steady; fair demand; extra western creamery, official price, 25c; street price, 25½c.

Eggs—Firm; receipts, 13,218 pkgs; state, Pennsylvania, and nearby, fancy, selected, white, 26@28c; do, good to choice, 23@25c; western selected, finest, 19@20c; do average, best, 17½@18c; official price, firsts, 17½@18c. Poultry—Alive, steady; spring chickens, 17c; fowls, 14c; turkeys, 11c. Dressed—Firm; western chickens, 16@20c; turkeys, 10@15c; fowls, 12@15c.

EGG PRICES ARE ADVANCED.

Egg prices were advanced ½c because of the good consumptive demand and the small offerings. There was an advance of 2c to 5c in potato values.

NEW BRIDGE AT RUSH STREET NEEDED TO PREVENT WRECKS

Overturning of Tug Chicago Arouses Vesselmen to Demand Bascule Structure at Dangerous Bend.

Marine accidents like that which befell the tug Chicago at the Rush street bridge Thursday night would be reduced greatly or made practically impossible, in the opinion of vessel owners, by the construction of a new bascule bridge at that point, thus removing the center pier from the river.

Vessel owners said yesterday that the center pier of the Rush street bridge is one of the greatest obstructions to navigation on the Chicago river. It was pointed out that this pier is doubly dangerous because of the bend in the stream at that point.

City Engineer John E. Ericson admitted that a new bridge at Rush street would be a great benefit to navigation. He said, however, that the city's financial condition would not permit the outlay.

Members of the sanitary board said that if a new bridge was to be built the city would have to build it. In an agreement with the city made several years ago the sanitary district contracted to build fifteen bridges, the city to stand a certain share of the expense. The city never has kept its part of the agreement, being indebted to the sanitary district for bridge construction to the amount of $500,000.

The Dearborn avenue bridge, the fourteenth built by the sanitary district, is expected to be completed by Sept. 1. The last bridge, according to the agreement with the city, to be built by the district will be the Polk street bridge. No date has been set for the beginning of work on this bridge. Trustee Eidmann said the policy of the board has been to delay the construction of the bridge in an effort to force the city to settle up its $500,000 indebtedness.

CHICAGO TRADE IS QUIETER.

Record of Business Defaults Exceeds That of a Year Ago.

GENERAL TONE STILL STRONG

Scarcity of Live Stock Receipts Increases Price of Meat.

In its weekly review of Chicago trade Dun's review, published today by R. G. Dun & Co., will say:

"Midsummer quiet is more in evidence, but no loss of strength appears in the general conditions supporting the business outlook. The recent ratio of gain in the volume of payments through banks is not sustained this week and the record of trading defaults again compares unfavorably in numbers with those a year ago. The leading industries disclose no special change. Satisfactory weather permits factory production to run without hindrance and the volume of distribution of finished products and general merchandise makes an increasing exhibit, although there is smaller movement of grain, due to decreased marketings.

"Supplies of live stock fail to measure up adequately and this brings the highest values recorded this year for choice beeves and further rise in hogs, products of the latter also making a higher average cost.

"Bank clearings, $226,065,383, exceed those in corresponding week of 1906 by 6.2 per cent.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district number thirty, against twenty-nine last week and twenty a year ago."

Free Buying for Fall.

New York, Aug. 2.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Crops, particularly corn and cotton, have shown further improvement, there is freer buying for fall at leading southwestern markets, shipments of fall goods are expanding, and there is evident a more optimistic feeling as to distributive trade generally, based upon the active trade done of late at retail.

"Relatively most activity is noted in the larger southwestern markets, at a few central western centers, and at the larger eastern cities. At the south midsummer quiet rules, except at infrequent intervals.

"In some lines of wholesale trade, such as cotton dry goods, the activity manifested is still notable, considering the long spell of preceding buoyant buying, but other lines display more quiet.

"Business failures for the week in the United States number 142, against 155 last week, 170 in the like week of 1906, 178 in 1905, 179 in 1904, and 164 in 1903. Failures in Canada number 20, against 26 last week, 20 the preceding week, and 16 last year."

Dun Sees Improvement.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

"Trade reports from the leading cities are singularly uniform in making favorable comparisons with the corresponding week in any previous year. At most western and southern points the improvement in crop prospects has brought out liberal fall orders, and there is evidently more confidence in the future than at any time since it was found that many of the principal farm products had made a bad start.

"Jobbing houses are preparing for winter trade on a scale seldom equaled, the consumption of seasonable goods promising to deplete stocks most satisfactorily.

"Settlement of the ore strike removes any danger of interruption to activity at pig iron furnaces, which promise to establish a new record of output during the second half of the year. According to the regular report of the American Iron and Steel association, all previous figures were surpassed during the first six months with an aggregate of 13,478,044 tons, an increase of 753,103 tons over the previous maximum.

"Footwear factories are well engaged on old orders, but visiting buyers in the Boston market did not purchase as freely as was anticipated, and mail orders from interior wholesalers appear slowly."

Bank Clearings for Week.

Bradstreet's bank clearings report for the week ending Aug. 2 shows an aggregate of $2,510,398,000, as against $2,511,612,000 last week and $2,710,000,000 in the corresponding week last year.

Canadian clearings for the week total $74,419,000, as against $82,168,000 last week and $72,970,000 in the same week last year.

CARS ORDERED FOR "L" ROAD.

Evanston Branch of Northwestern to Be in Operation in Time to Carry Christmas Shoppers.

Forty new cars have been ordered by the Northwestern Elevated railroad in preparation for its opening of an Evanston branch next fall. The cars are to be delivered at the rate of five a week from the first of October, and it is planned to have trains running regularly between Chicago and the north shore suburb in time to accommodate the rush of Christmas shoppers.

In accordance with the scheme recently outlined before the city council, and regarding which an ordinance was passed, the trains will descend to the surface at the present Wilson avenue terminus and continue northward to Evanston over the tracks of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. It is planned to have these tracks electrified.

The new cars ordered by the Northwestern will be better, it is said, than any used in the city at present. They will be finished in a more elaborate fashion, with wider windows, and there will be room for twenty-eight people to sit facing forward, where the present cars allow but sixteen in this position.

WHEAT TRADE FEARS FROST.

Low Temperatures and Spread of Rust Enhance Values.

COARSE GRAINS ARE HIGHER.

Iowa Reports on Both Corn and Oats Are Bullish.

Low temperatures, bordering dangerously on the frost line in the northwest yesterday morning, with reports during the day of unseasonably cold weather over the spring wheat country, followed by black rust reports, induced buying of wheat on a more pretentious scale than recently by some of the big wire houses, and made an early advance of ⅛c. Increased offerings by commission houses and local traders on the bulge sapped the strength of the market near the last, and closing prices were at net gains of ¾c for September and ½c for December and May, the difference between September and December widening to 4¼c, compared to a 4c spread Thursday night.

The weather was unseasonably cold in all quarters, and despite the fact that no frost was reported at any point, a range of temperatures varying from a minimum of 34 at Williston to between 38 and 62 at other places, sent the shivers over the more timid bears, and there was covering on a small scale throughout the session. Outside buying orders were disappointingly small, and the cessation of the big commission house buying was the signal for the local crowd to jump on the market, the process having been eminently profitable in recent sessions.

Black Rust Is Spreading.

Confirmation of black rust reports and advices from conservative experts and northwestern grain men that the plague was spreading, and was much more prevalent than a week ago, inspired a little buying, but the traders seemed to prefer to await actual damage than to anticipate it by buying now. Generally reports from all the northwestern territory with the exception of North Dakota were fairly encouraging, although no expert is sanguine enough to predict an average crop. In the southwest weather conditions were generally favorable, although parts of Missouri had more rains.

New Wheat Arrivals Disappointing.

The arrivals of new winter wheat are disappointingly small, and conservative cash men are now looking for a long drawn out movement, which will at no time be oppressive. Southwest advices said that Kansas City stocks would show a good increase for the week, but that acceptances were light, and after the wheat already contracted for had come in, there would be light arrivals. Cash wheat at Minneapolis was strong, and stocks showed a marked decrease for the week—800,000 bu. Liverpool showed a firm tone on the firmer American advices and the light Argentine shipments. Cash trade was slow, both here and at the seaboard, millers and foreign buyers showing no inclination to load up at present prices. Sales were 25,000 bu here and 144,000 bu Manitoba and durum at the seaboard.

India Has General Rains.

The monsoon has broken in India and general rains have fallen throughout the country. Prices in that country are said to be tending downward, but they are still above values which prevail during scarcity. Argentine shipments have fallen off in a marked manner the last few weeks, those for this week being but about half as large as a year ago. Crop advices from the South African country, however, are optimistic and conditions, it was said, could hardly be better. The Modern Miller was more bullish than ordinarily, saying that farmers were more inclined to hold than to sell, and that late thrashing returns revealed more disappointing yields than heretofore reported.

Continued active and higher coarse grain markets were a sympathetic aid to the market and induced a little buying. Primary receipts were 968,000 bu, against 1,187,000 bu a year ago. Bradstreet's 2,789,000 bu compared to 2,985,000 bu last year. Receipts here were 117 cars, compared to 392 crs a year ago. Estimated for today, 189 cars. Kansas City reported the sale of 25,000 brls flour for export. Clearances were 316,000 bu.

Heavy Accumulation of Corn.

Further heavy accumulation by the bull contingent, stimulated by the increasing bad reports in regard to the crop, firm cables, and light Argentine shipments, made for higher values in corn, and, after a moderate reaction from the extreme advance, net gains were ½@⅝@¾. Buying of the same concentrated character that has been evident in oats and corn for several days absorbed all the offerings of the deferred months, and also made a good gain in the nearby option. B. W. Snow is finding a good deal of fault with the outlook for corn in Iowa, and this, with other pessimistic reports, was the basis for much of the buying. The northwest was a moderate buyer of May. A noticeable increase in the number of small outside buying orders was reported.

Argentine shipments were 992,000 bu, which was nearly 2,000,000 less than estimated. The cash demand was good, and part of the sales reported were for export. Prices in the sample market were ½@1c higher. Sales, 200,000 bu, and 68,000 bu at the seaboard. Primary arrivals were 352,000 bu, compared to 357,000 bu a year ago. Clearances for the week, 1,608,000 bu.

Oats Bulls Still Loading Up.

The steady absorption of all the surplus offerings of all months in oats by the leading bull interests is making a congested market, and shorts and commission house buyers found it difficult to get hold of any oats without advancing values. The market is growing broader and trade yesterday was active, with values at the close 1¼@1⅜c higher. Sensationally bad reports from the central western states—Nebraska, Iowa, and South Dakota flooded the market and sapped what little remaining courage the bears had. The holding of the Patten crowd is large, and is now estimated at between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 bu.

The cash market was strong and ½@1c higher, with a particularly urgent demand for standard oats, which have had an upturn of 3¾c in the last three days, and the stocks of which are now about cleaned up in this city. Receipts are barely adequate for local feed dealers. Arrivals here were 69 cars, with 71 cars expected today. Cash sales, 235,000 bu.

Light Trade in Provisions.

Trade in hog products was light, and aside from a little buying of lard and ribs by one of the packers there was little feature. Local provisions stocks were considered more bullish than expected, and caused a little covering early, and the tone of the market was stronger. Receipts of hogs were heavy—84,000 at western points, compared to 47,000 a year ago. Foreign markets were quiet and unchanged. Closing prices for pork were unchanged, while lard was 5c higher and ribs 7½c up.

Rye Prices Are Firm.

Rye values were firmly held. The demand was better and offerings continue small. September closed at 78c bid; December, 79c bid; and May, 80c bid, and 82c asked. No. 2 new sold at 82c; No. 3 new at 78c, and old at 77c f. o. b. Receipts were 3 cars.

Barley was a shade firmer with oats. Malting ranged from 57c to 65c; feed, 45c to 61c; and screenings, 38@61c. Receipts were 2 cars.

Timothy seed was firm. Spot contract, $4.65; September, $4.65 bid and $4.75 asked. Country lots were quoted at $2.50@4.25. Clover seed was dull, with spot contract $15.50; October, $15.00; cash lots, $8.00@14.50.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Offerings of new wheat were moderate and there was little if any feature to the cash market. The milling demand is light and inconsequential. Prices are maintained at about the same differences as recently, and elevator interests took the bulk of the stuff. There was a continued good demand for cash wheat at Minneapolis, with No. 1 northern about 4⅛c over September. Wheat stocks decreased 800,000 bu for the week, and receipts were smaller than the same day last week for the first time in several weeks. Duluth had the bulk of the northwestern receipts, however. Southwestern markets were firm. Kansas City reported the sale of 25,000 brls flour for export. One of the leading houses in the southwest reported acceptances light. New York wired that the export business was quiet. There was a sharp demand here for standard oats yesterday, as there has been for several days, and prices for this grade were again given a subtantial boost, sales in store being made at 47½c, an advance of 3¾c in the last two days. Sales local billed were made as high as 50c for old standard. The most urgent demand came from two or three of the local shippers, one firm having been buying regardless of price for several days. Local stocks of standard oats are practically all sold for shipment. Prices on other grades were ½@1c higher. Current receipts are scarcely sufficient to supply local feed dealers. Corn was ½@1c higher, with a fair demand both domestic and export. Local sales were 25,000 bu wheat, 250,000 bu corn, and 285,000 bu oats. The seaboard reported sales of 144,000 bu wheat and 68,000 bu corn.

Buying of wheat in the pit was of a more urgent character than recently. Bartlett-Frazier, Wrenn, and Logan-Bryan were on the buying side, the first named buying upwards of 1,000,000 bu and the other two houses taking nearly as much. Armour was a buyer of December, selling September at 4c to 4½c difference. The local crowd bought early but sold on the advance. Selling was led by Bresseau, Daggett, McIntyre, Northern Grain, Pringle-Fitch-Rankin, and Love. In corn there was a continuation of the heavy buying by the Bartlett-Frazier house that was conspicuous the previous day. Updike, Comstock, Wrenn, and Daggett bought May, and there was an increase in small outside buying orders. Selling was scattered. Bartlett-Frazier, Congdon-Steever, Woodbury, Northern Grain, Rankin, and A. J. White were good buyers of oats. On the advance there was heavy selling by Ware-Leland, Wells, Wrenn, Buckley, and Friedman. Cudahy Packing company was a fair buyer of ribs. Selling was scattered.

While evidence of any material damage from that source was lacking yesterday, black rust reports assumed a more threatening aspect. Parsons, the well known grain man of Winona, Minn., wired that his men were reporting rust spreading badly in South Dakota. R. E. Stone, the rust expert out for Updike, wired from Wessington that about half of the wheat in that vicinity was infected with black rust, and that the fife wheat was a little damaged. Oats were also infected. One of the most important reports came from Van Dusen-Harrington of Minneapolis, who have been conservative in regard to the black rust. Their reports were to the effect that the fields examined in South Dakota showed more rust than a week ago. One or two reports were received of black rust in North Dakota, and wheat and oats in northern Iowa are more or less infected with the rust of the black variety.

Some of the best posted men in the cash business are now ready to admit that the movement of new wheat will be much less than they expected earlier in the season. The firmness of the futures, with the continued rains which have delayed thrashing and shipping, have caused many farmers in different sections to stack or bin their wheat, and there is a more pronounced tendency on their part to hold their wheat than there has been in several years. In addition to this local elevator men appear to be averse to loading with any more wheat and have not been bidding at all eagerly. Last year when there was much elevator room available all of the big local cash houses were bidding a premium for wheat. This year sales have all been made at a substantial discount under the September.

Active preparations are being made for the return ball game with the Minneapolis chamber of commerce nine, which will be played at the northwestern city Aug. 17. A committee composed of Edward G. Heeman, Harry Avery, and Howard Jackson are in charge of arrangements. A special train has been chartered on the Wisconsin, which will leave the night before the game here and arrive in plenty of time for the "fans" to see the operations of the Minneapolis exchange and do the town before the game. The fare for the round trip will be $8, and an extra charge of $2 each way will be made for berths. A large delegation from the board is expected to go both to act as "rooters" for the local club and to return the compliment of the northwestern grain men's visit here a week ago.

R. E. Stone reported to the Updike Commission company from Miller, S. D., under date of July 31 that the oats in that section were generally infected with rust and that the weather had been less favorable than a year ago, and that, although the acreage was about the same, there would not be more than 75 per cent as much as a year ago. Corn is tasseling out and is fairly clean, with a good stand. Wheat is irregular, but promises about the same as a year ago. Little damage has been done by rust, although it is quite prevalent, but with hot, muggy weather there would be a general spreading and some damage would result.

"Regardless of the black rust, which may develop into serious damage, the wheat situation is growing more bullish every day," said James A. Rankin. "Large stocks at primary markets are a deterring factor, but the acknowledged shortage in winter wheat, with the prospect for a crop of decidedly less proportions in the spring wheat country both in this country and Canada, makes an exceedingly strong situation. The conditions abroad are analogous to those on this side. September liquidation, which may as well come at this time as any other, may possibly cause the difference between December and September to widen to 5½c."

The Modern Miller in its weekly crop summary said that the thrashing of wheat was being delayed by rain, but the movement was increasing. Hard winter wheat deliveries are liberal. Farmers are more inclined to hold than to sell, and many are stacking or storing their grain. Late thrashing returns reveal more disappointing yields than heretofore reported. This is chiefly confined to the soft winter wheat states.

The world's lard stocks on Aug. 1 were estimated by Hately Bros. at 374,000 tcs, compared to 338,000 tcs July 1, and 298,195 tcs a year ago, an increase during July of 35,000 tcs, compared to a decrease during July a year ago of 13,000.

Exports of wheat and flour from both coasts for the week were 2,739,000 bu, against 2,895,000 bu a year ago. Corn exports were 1,608,000 bu, compared to 623,000 bu last year.

J. R. Whitney, who is on an automobile trip from Chicago to central Iowa, wired from Cedar Rapids that the condition of corn and oats is bordering on the sensational.

Argentine shipments of wheat for the week were 552,000 bu, compared to 1,096,000 bu last year; corn, 992,000 bu, against 3,583,000 bu last year.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 189 cars; corn, 167 cars; oats, 71 cars; rye, 2 cars; barley, 4 cars; hogs, 12,000.

Winnipeg receipts of wheat yesterday were 234 cars, compared to 41 cars a year ago.

IN THE WORLD OF FINANCE.

Traction Issues Continue Almost Lifeless on Local Exchange.

STEEL DEMAND IS LIGHTER.

Steady Decrease Is Shown in Number of New Incorporations.

Business was dull on the local stock exchange. Traction issues continue to be almost lifeless. There must be a period ahead, however, when the different bonds and stocks will assume a new aspect. With ease in the money market, such as may be expected at some time, steps will be taken to put all the surface lines together. Such a combination may not offer the profits that were common several years ago when similar combinations were being made, but a unification of the surface lines will mean certain economies.

In the matter of economies it can be asserted that there is room for an extraordinary reduction in the expenses or rather outgo, both legal and otherwise, of the Union Traction company and its subsidiary corporations. Abuses and extravagances have grown up since the property was thrown into the hands of the United States court, which belong almost in the category of shameful. A complete cleaning out such as should take place after the properties have been relieved of the receivership and the officers appointed under it will leave the properties in a way to earn at least $1,000,000 more annually.

Chicago Telephone rights again worked a little lower, selling at 2⅝. The actual holders of the stock of the company have taken small interest in the new issue to be put out other than to dispose of their right to subscribe for their proportionate amount. Traders on the local stock exchange have made the only "bull" market that has existed for such rights.

Bank Statement Forecast.

Since last Friday the New York clearing house banks have, according to known movements of money, lost $4,045,200 cash. The banks gained from the interior $616,800, but lost to the subtreasury $3,812,000. To this latter loss is to be added $850,000 gold coin shipped to Canada.

Good Times and Savings Deposits.

"I am inclined to believe," said the president of one of the largest trust companies, "that the volume of savings deposits is relatively less in good than in poor times. When there is a demand for services the wage and salary earners feel sure that if things do not go right in one position they will be able to secure another, and in consequence they are less careful about savings. When general business is slow and two men are seeking the same position the average savings depositor is not only careful about holding his position but he is also more careful of his savings account. I think savings deposits grow faster in dull than in good times.

"Again, with interest rates as high as they now are, there is a marked disposition on the part of savings depositors to invest their surplus in a way to net them from 4½ to 6 per cent. Money rules at a 6 per cent minimum with us for all new business. We have some old 5½ per cent loans that have not been marked up."

Shrinkage in Steel Business.

The shrinkage in new business of the United States Steel corporation for the month of July was between 25 and 30 per cent. It is asserted this was due largely to the falling off in the demand for Bessemer steel rails on the part of the railroad companies. The railroads, it is asserted, are ordering rails sparingly while awaiting the decision of the committee appointed for the purpose of deciding upon a new type of steel rail. Had the railroads ordered rails as liberally this month as in July of last year, the falling off in business would not have been so pronounced.

It has been the announced and fixed policy of the railroads to curtail expenditures as much as possible. E. H. Harriman and J. J. Hill have led in asserting heretofore that a marked reaction in business should be expected. Both Mr. Hill and Mr. Harriman desire to see an easier money market in order to raise fresh capital for their roads. But the unexpected decline in the prices of securities appears to have changed Mr. Harriman's utterances. Doubtless, he could not foresee a decline of 50 points in the market quotations for standard stocks. He would like to have seen a lessened demand for money and a moderate concession in stock prices, but he was not prepared for the avalanche for selling orders which carried the market for securities to an abnormally low level, and by so much impaired the value of securities as collateral for loans.

July Incorporations.

New incorporations in July, according to reports compiled by the New York Journal of Commerce, aggregated but a little over $85,000,000. While this amount was in excess of the figures for the corresponding month last year, it was substantially but one-half the total for the month of June. However, the record shows a constantly decreasing volume of such business. Following are comparative figures of companies incorporated in the eastern states during July with an authorized capital of $1,000,000 or more:

Growth of Westinghouse Company.

In a statement to shareholders of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company President Westinghouse says among other things:

"In its infancy your business occupied a space having less than 100 square feet of surface. Today it is carried on in the most complete workshops ever constructed, having a floor area of over 75 acres and employing 23,000 operatives.

"Twenty years ago, when your business started, there were no managers, officers, or engineers familiar with the class of business which was then wholly unknown, and these had to be developed. The managers, officers, and engineers now in your employ would make a full regiment of active, earnest, skillful soldiers, possessed of technical and business knowledge of the highest order."

Dividend Declared.

The General Chemical company declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on common stock, payable Sept. 3. Books close Aug. 23. Reopen Sept. 4.

General Financial News.

Sidney Mitchell, president of the United Boxboard and Paper company, said the concern's western plants are in better physical condition, and that they are doing all the business that could be expected of them.

The St. Louis Car company is preparing to issue $1,500,000 of 6 per cent short term notes. They are to be used as collateral for a new issue of stock.

The directors of the Southern railway company will meet next Friday if a quorum can be obtained to act on the preferred dividends.

The Northwestern Elevated has placed an order for forty new coaches with the American Car and Foundry company. The additional equipment is to be used in service on the Evanston extension.

The instrument statement of the Chicago Telephone company for July shows an increase of $2,111 during that month. The company has in service in the city 138,388 telephones, and in the country 53,876.

Kansas City Railway Notes.

An officer of the Kansas City Railway and Light company is quoted as saying: "The new 6 per cent note issue is for the purpose of replacing some debentures falling due soon, $3,000,000, and to take up the floating indebtedness. The issue will not add to the capital liabilities."

Oak Park "L" Traffic.

The Chicago and Oak Park elevated for the month of July carried a daily average of 43,708 passengers, an increase of 1,096, or 2.57 per cent, compared with the corresponding month last year.

WISCONSIN FARMS.

Choice, rich land, in small or large tracts, near Ellis Junction, Wis., on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Ry.; price $10 to $15 per acre, on easy terms.

Remember this is not stump land or stony land, but open, rolling prairie land, ready for the plow, or good, live timber land, all underlaid with rich clay subsoil; the very best county and town roads through each section, with many settled, improved farms adjacent, and with good schools on all sides.

Go with us and see what choice, well located property we are selling; you will not be disappointed; now is the time to look over the land, when crops are growing, and you will be convinced that no state can show better crops than are produced on the farms in Marinette county, Wisconsin, where our land is located.

We have cheap excursion rates on every Tuesday and Saturday evening over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Ry. All who are interested and want good farms for homes or investment should not fail to see our Wisconsin land. Send for book and map or call at office.

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

MY RATE AT THE PRESENT TIME IS 5½ PER cent interest. No commission or attorney's fees. Making loans on real estate is a specialty in which some men excell, consequently they acquire the bulk of the business. Progressive, up to date real estate men who have the confidence of investors always have funds on hand and are able to transact business quickly. A borrower should know in advance what the transaction is going to cost him. There should never be any disappointment on this score. The only point in which a borrower cannot be fully informed in advance is the cost of the continuation of the abstract at the abstract office, but as the abstract company charges all customers alike this is not a serious matter. Persons who desire building loans should bring their plans and specifications. It takes about two weeks to make a loan and do it with comfort to all parties. PETER VAN VLISSINGEN, 172 E. Washington-st., s. e. cor. 5th-av.
